WAR OFFICE DOES NOT DENY RUMOR MAY BE CORRECT

Point Out that Belgian Defense Plans Center About Antwerp

KAISER STAKES ALL IN BELGIUM

Germans Fall Back Before French Advance Into Alsace-Lorraine

Germans Making Determined Effort to Hew Through Center of Defense

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS (United Press Staff Correspondent) PARIS, Aug. 19.—Rumors that Brussels has fallen before the German advance have been widely circulated here today. The French war office admits knowledge of the rumor. It states very positively that the report is not confirmed. Communication with the Belgian capital, however, is cut off and a general battle has been in progress since daylight yesterday.

In connection with the rumors about Brussels, the war office, in an official statement, points out that the Belgian defense plans centered around Antwerp. That is the Belgian base. It is tremendously fortified, whereas Brussels is not. The withdrawal of the Belgian seat of government to Antwerp, announced yesterday, was considered highly significant.

Interest in the situation in Belgium has distracted attention today from the French operations in Alsace-Lorraine. It is realized that the Kaiser is staking everything on his offensive movement through Belgium. The German infantry was reported as moving steadily forward, entrenching as it came, with its chief strength directed against the Belgian-allied armies' center in an effort to divide the opposition. No word is being received direct from Brussels today, but whether this is due to the censorship or the presence of the Germans is not known here.

French Advance The French advance through Alsace-Lorraine continues, the Germans giving way at every point. It is stated that the occupation of Saarburg was completed tonight without a fight, despite the fact that the Germans were strongly entrenched there with plenty of artillery. From this fact the military experts believe the German stand will be made at Strassburg which is heavily fortified and dominates the Rhine.

A brief official bulletin, issued today, confirmed the report that the Germans are falling back upon Strassburg and that French armies are operating north from the Swiss frontier, having entered Alsace near Belfort, south from Nancy, and east through all of the passes of the Vosges mountains.

The German resistance is characterized as stubborn, but the official report claims that the German losses far outnumber the French and that hundreds of prisoners are being taken.

WAR ODDITIES

PARIS, Aug. 19.—When sympathy was expressed for a poor woman, mother of nine sons, eight of whom are at the front, at one of the free soup kitchens, she replied: "I need no consolation. I have never forgotten that I was flogged by Prussians in 1870. I have urged my sons to avenge me and they will."

GERMAN PLAN IS TO FOOL JAPAN

Will Checkmate Mikado by Turning Back to China Her Possessions

NEGOTIATIONS ARE UNDER WAY

German Official Circles Are Intensely Angry Over Position Assumed by Japan

BY KARL H. VON WIEGAND THE HAGUE, Aug. 19.—The German emperor is planning to checkmate Japan. If possible her ultimatum will be made ineffective. Germany will probably voluntarily surrender to China her concessions on the Shang Tung peninsula. In turning back to the Chinese republic Kiao Chow and the German land and water leased territory the Kaiser is expected to emphasize that Germany has been an economic force in the Orient that has made for improved conditions. While definite decision has not been reached, a high German diplomat assures the United Press Berlin office that Germany is already negotiating with China to turn back to the oriental republic its leased territory.

There is the most intense indignation in German official circles over the position assumed by Japan. But it is realized that the ultimatum was prepared at the dictation of Great Britain and that Japan in this instance is simply the agent of England.

The fortunes of war are exemplified in the condition of Lieutenant Descler De Moranville, son of the Belgian commander in chief. He wandered over the Dutch frontier and was captured by a Dutch patrol and will now be interned until the end of the war. Like 150 Germans, among them some well known officers, he will be held a prisoner either here or at Amsterdam.

War Bulletins

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Berlin advisers say the German government claims the occupation of Mlaw, in Russian Poland, just over the Prussian boundary and forty-six miles northeast of Plock. This announcement is believed to mean that an advance of the Germans towards Warsaw is being attempted.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The Bulgarian and Turkish representatives again today notified the foreign office that these nations were determined to maintain complete neutrality. No mention was made of the report that Turkish troops were already in Bulgaria en route to the Greek frontier, or of the Grecian ultimatum in this connection, but it is now considered certain that even if the Turkish troops actually had started on such an expedition they would have been recalled.

total more than 400,000, and that with reserves packed in the rear, the Kaiser has a total of close to 750,000 men available for this first offensive operation. But they insist that it will be impossible for the Germans to reach the Belgian-French boundary.

That the British troops probably are engaged in the present fighting is believed likely. The censor refuses to permit any word of their position to be sent. Earl Kitchener's apparent interest in the reports of the Belgian fighting is considered highly significant.

Reports that Brussels had already been taken by the Germans were circulated today. They were met with an emphatic denial from the Belgian legation.

POPE CALLS UPON CATHOLICS TO UNITE PRAYERS FOR PEACE

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The text of the message issued from the vatican by the pope calling on the entire world to pray for peace was received here today. It directs that "especially the clergy make public supplication so that the merciful God may, as it were, be wearied with the prayers of His children and speedily remove the evil cause of war."

The message, issued under date of August 2, follows: "At this moment, when nearly the whole of Europe is being dragged into the vortex of a most terrible war, with present dangers and miseries and the consequences to follow, the very thought of which must strike everyone with grief and horror, we whose care is the life and welfare of so many citizens and peoples cannot but be deeply moved, and our hearts wrung with the bitterest sorrow."

"And in the midst of this universal confusion and peril we feel and know that both Fatherly love and apostolic ministry demand of us that we should with all earnestness turn the thoughts of Christendom thither, 'whence cometh help'—to Christ, the Prince of Peace, and the most powerful mediator between God and man. "We charge, therefore, the Catholics of the whole world to approach the throne of grace and mercy, and more especially the clergy, whose duty furthermore, it will be to make in every parish, as their bishops shall direct, public supplication so that merciful God may, as it were, be wearied with the prayers of His children and speedily remove the evil causes of war, giving to them who rule to think the thoughts of peace, and not of affliction."

POPE PIUS X

PERSISTENT REPORT LIEGE FORTS TAKEN OFFICIALLY DENIED

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Despite denials from official sources, the reports that the Liege forts have at last fallen are persistent. Circumstantial accounts of their being badly battered by the German siege artillery and at last blown up by the defenders, are reaching here from several points on the continent. This was known to have been the plan, as the officers in command had been instructed that the forts were not to be allowed to fall into German hands, and, that when the time came for them to be abandoned they were to be demolished by high explosives already in place. There is no official confirmation, however, of the report that this has taken place. The last word received here regarding the forts from Brussels quoted the Belgian general staff as saying: "At last accounts the Liege forts were still holding out. Communication is interrupted."

REPORTED ZEPPELINS HAVE DESTROYED 19 BRITISH WARSHIPS

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—In response to many inquiries, which it says have been made as to what the Zeppelin dirigibles are doing in the European war, the Staats Zeitung prints the following: "We have very favorable news from private letters concerning the Zeppelin airships. The following information received in a private letter speaks for itself: "Every night the Zeppelin airships go out to the North sea and when they return there is an English battleship destroyed. Nineteen English battleships have been destroyed so far."

GETS ULTIMATUM WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Japan's ultimatum to Germany demanding relinquishment of the province of Kiao Chau, China, has reached the Berlin foreign office, the Japanese embassy here announced today. The information came in a cablegram from the Japanese minister at Stockholm.

It is surprising what a lot of work a loafer will do in order to dodge work.

Chicago Grain Review CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Wheat continued to advance today, partly on more encouraging reports regarding the renewal of export business to Europe, and partly because of crop conditions abroad, where it was reported that all countries, with the exception of Great Britain, will have smaller yields. Noon found prices 1 1/2 to 1 3/4c above last night's closing figures. Corn prices weakened a little at the start, had a rebound to a shade above last night's close and, then settled back to about opening figures.

Oats started with an advance of 1/2 to 3/4c and held the gain throughout the forenoon session. Buying was active on the theory that the bulge in wheat and corn prices this week will increase the demand for oats. May oats touched fifty cents early in the day. Excepting short ribs, all provisions were sharply higher, on account of a strong hog market. Wheat continued firm in the afternoon, advancing a shade to 1/2c. Corn futures weakened further, losing 1/2c for each month in the afternoon, and oats eased off a shade. Pork was a shade easier in the afternoon, but other provisions futures made decided gains.

HAD BEEN REPORTED RAPIDLY SINKING SINCE THE MORNING

ROME, Aug. 19.—Pope Pius is dead.

The above message was received this afternoon by the United Press in New York from Henry W. Wood, its Rome correspondent. The story came as the final word, after a day in which the wires had carried increasingly gloomy reports from the vatican, where his holiness was reported to be rapidly sinking.

At noon a report said that the head of the Catholic church was much worse, that he was breathing with difficulty, and that his physicians admitted that he was threatened with pneumonia.

It was stated that his sisters and a doctor were constantly at his bedside. It was later reported that Cardinal Merry Del Val had summoned back to Rome all the cardinals who recently left here.

The cable announcing the death reached the United Press offices in New York at 2:26 this afternoon.

The death of the pope was due to the war. He died practically of a broken heart.

Pius X. (Giuseppe Sarto) was born in Riese, Italy, June 8, 1835. He was elected to the papacy by the college of cardinals, August 4, 1903, after the conclave had been in session five days, and assumed the title of Pius X.

The late pope was born in a small Venetian town, of an humble peasant family. His father died March 4, 1842, and his mother, Margarita Sanson, died February 2, 1894, after a life of labor and sacrificing, entailed in rearing her family of nine children, eight of whom were living at the time Giuseppe was made pope, all in humble circumstances.

There were two brothers and seven sisters. The pope's brother, a shop keeper and postman. His sister Theresa is married to an ice-keeper, named Paolin, whose "trattoria delle due spade," in Riese, is only a few steps away from the modest two story house in which the pope was born.

Another sister is married to a sacristan; a third to a dealer in wines. When young Sarto became a parish priest, his mother was too humble to live with him, but his unmarried sisters resided with him at the patriarchal palace in Venice. He made his elementary studies in Castelfranco, a small town not far from Venice, and thanks to the interest shown in him by Cardinal Montorio, patriarch of Venice, was enabled to continue his education.

He was ordained priest September 18, 1858, by special dispensation of Pius IX, and was appointed assistant priest at Tombolo, from which place he was transferred in 1867 to Salsano, as parish priest. His zeal, piety and well-directed energy led to subsequent appointments to such important ecclesiastical dignities and spiritual director of the seminary, judge of the ecclesiastical tribunal, and vicar general of Hreviso.

In 1884 he was consecrated bishop of Mantua, in Lombardy where he remained for nine years. On June 12, 1893, Pope Leo XIII, created him cardinal with San Bernardo alle Terme as his titular church, and very shortly after this he was made Patriarch of Venice, whence nine years later, he was summoned to Rome, to elect a successor to the papal throne, made vacant by Leo's death, and was chosen as that successor.

BY HENRY WOOD

(United Press Staff Correspondent.) ROME, Aug. 19.—There is absolutely no improvement in the pope's condition. He is having great difficulty in breathing, while the immediate gouty manifestations are causing much pain. He is unable to sleep and the attending physicians are compelled to give him strong stimulants to keep up his strength.

Sisters at Bedside The devoted sisters of his holiness remain at his bedside continuously. One of the physicians is always in attendance.

So weakened, however, is the distinguished patient, that it was admitted today that his stomach will retain only liquid nourishment in small quantities.

As an indication of the seriousness of the condition of the pope, it was stated today that the doctors have forbidden the cardinals to see him for the present. Although everybody has been forbidden to mention the war in his presence, his holiness constantly asks for news from the front. He spends hours in prayer that peace will speedily be attained.

Fever Reduced Drs. Amici and Marchiafava have been able to bring but little relief from the bronchial catarrh from which he is suffering, though the fever of his holiness is somewhat reduced. The physicians visit the pope twice daily.

Every effort is being made to direct the thoughts of the pope from the war. The great European conflict is not mentioned in his presence, but it is evident that the thoughts of those falling in battle are ever with him. While his attendants are urging upon him the necessity of complete rest, his holiness will mention the soldiers who have been killed, and murmur: "My poor children, my poor children."

WEATHER

Temperatures yesterday: High, 85. Low, 68.

Precipitation, .54. Forecast for La Crosse and vicinity: Probable local showers tonight or Thursday; cooler.

For Wisconsin: Unsettled weather with probably local showers south and east portions tonight and Thursday and west and central portions tonight.

For Minnesota: Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday, probably local showers south portion; cooler tonight and east portion Thursday.

For Iowa: Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday; probably local showers east portion; cooler tonight and east portion Thursday.

Weather Conditions The western storm has remained nearly stationary and the temperature continues high in the central states.

Showers and local thunderstorms have occurred in nearly all districts east of the Rocky mountains and the weather continues unsettled throughout this section.

The weather will continue unsettled in this section tonight and Thursday and local showers are probable, with somewhat lower temperatures.

SAYS HE SAW SHOT FIRED AT PRINCE

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Richard Baren, one of the passengers arriving here today on the liner Finland, said he was confident he saw a shot fired at Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm in Berlin on the night of July 31. He said he believed that the crown prince was wounded.

Baren said he was riding along Unter den Linden, when he heard cheers, and then saw the crown prince approaching with a military escort. As the heir to the German throne came near, Baren said two men dressed as priests stepped from the crowd and both drew revolvers and fired.

Frederick Wilhelm placed his hand to his hip, appeared to sway, and then turned and galloped back to the palace with his escort.

Baren said he was sure the prince was wounded in the hip. The men who had fired at him—Baren supposed they were Russian spies—were hurried away by soldiers.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — The Tale of The Little Lost Day.

Licked the Little Boy's Face.

"I'll tell you the tale of a little lost day, kiddies," said daddy. "Wasn't it ever found?" asked Evelyn.

"No," said daddy, "and the little boy who lost it felt very bad every time he thought about it. But, thinking about it and being sorry didn't bring it back.

"Every morning when this little boy got back from the Land of Nod there was a new day all ready for him to play and work with—a new day, all full of light to whisper to him that if he would do this and do that he would be both happy and useful. And for some time the little boy made the most of his days and enjoyed their company very much. He worked hard and played hard and enjoyed every day so much that he would regret it being gone and looked forward with all the more enjoyment to the next.

"But this little boy, like many another little boy, got so he didn't like to work very well. He wanted to play all the time.

"One day—it was just the start of vacation, and he just squeezed through into the next higher grade—his parents said to him: 'We will take you and the other children on a picnic to the lake tomorrow. We will start early, and you must get up when you're called.' He was so pleased, and he promised that he would do just as he was told.

"Well, children, he got up after a long while and dressed—oh, so fast!—and he hurried into his clothes and downstairs.

"But there wasn't any one there. They had all gone to the picnic. He didn't want to cry because it wasn't mainly. He didn't want to play because he didn't, and the couldn't eat because there was a big lump in his throat that he couldn't swallow, and there was his part of the picnic lunch on the dining room table, too—pink frosted cake and all.

"He was sitting upon the doorstep leading into the woodshed, trying just as hard as he could to swallow that lump, when little Babs, his doggie, crept into his arms, snuggled down and licked the little boy's face with her pink furry tongue.

"At this bit of sympathy the lump did get itself swallowed, and the tears ran down the poor little boy's face.

"Oh, Babs, Babs," he sobbed, rocking back and forth, 'I've lost my day; I've lost my day! I wish I were dead, Babs; I do, I do!'

"Then he fell asleep, and because he was so lonely and hungry and forlorn he slept till the others came home and awakened to hear about the wonders of the day that the others had not lost."

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

THE PIANO MAN

BY LOUIS OTIS

Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate
Up through the airshaft came the first tinny notes of "Too Much Mustard."

Dauphine threw down her pen in exasperation and pressed her hands to her ears. Always, when she was up to her eyes in her evening's work, gathering up the notes she had accumulated through the day, the piano on the floor below would begin. The weather being warm and all the windows open, every one in the tenement got the benefit of the serenade.

"It's maddening," she exclaimed desperately. "The stuff I've turned in since that public nuisance has started will soon lose me my job. It's simply rank. But I can't think with that racket going on."

The clock struck 9. Dauphine picked up her pen and went at it again, stopping an instant to close the window. Her copy must be at the office by 10, and she had no time to lose.

The closed window partly shut out the sound, but it also shut out the air. Dauphine typewrote her copy in an atmosphere that would have boiled an egg.

She slipped on her hat, tucked the precious manuscript into her bag and went out into the hall. Up the stairway came the dum, dum, dum, dum, dum of the awful tune.

"I guess there is only one way left. That is to do my writing at the office in the evenings with the boys. But it seems too bad to be chased out of my little flat that I am doing without meals to pay rent for. I won't go to a boarding house—never!"

She delivered her copy and was half way down stairs to the street when a young man passed her, going up. She recognized the dejected, tired-out air, and the shabby clothes of a young man she had encountered in the office two nights before. "Jack Stoddard," she had heard him introduce himself to Hastings, the city editor. Hastings had dismissed him with his usual brisk "Nothing doing," scarcely glancing at the applicant, while the office looked on with an unsympathetic grin. All but Dauphine, whose heart ached for the young man so evidently in hard luck. It had been such a short time since she herself had been going the rounds hunting for work, that she had been unable to forget the weeks of dreadful discouragement.

He whipped off his hat and took her hand gracefully. She was surprised at the change in him. The hopelessness seemed to drop from his face like a mask at the friendliness of her tone, leaving him a different man.

"Going to see Mr. Hastings again?" she asked brightly, and added encouragingly: "Go on up. Maxwell's just brought in something extra good, and Mr. Hastings will be eating out of the hand for the next hour. Good luck!"

He looked after her as she ran lightly down the stairs. Hope—about gone—had suddenly reappeared a thousand candlepower strong.

It was a cheery-looking, stalwart young fellow who presented himself at Hastings' desk the next minute with, "If you want something extra good, Mr. Hastings, you'd better take me now. I'm sure to be snapped up soon." And instead of kicking him downstairs, the editor laughed and asked him to sit down.

The music had stopped when Dauphine returned to the tenement. The window responsible for the offending music was dark when she came out to have a look. "Gone to bed!" she commented with satisfaction. Then on her typewriter she rattled off a letter of complaint to the man with the piano. She knew it was a man, because when she had leaned far out one time she had seen his hands just below the edge of the window shade, as they pounded on the keys.

The note ran in part, "Will you kindly help one who is trying to earn a livelihood and who needs quietness in the evening, by closing your window, or at least putting on the soft pedal and moving the piano to the far wall? Changing the tune occasionally would help a little.

"Very truly yours, "A Sufferer."

She stuck the note into an envelope, ran down stairs and slipped it under the offender's door.

The next day she found an envelope addressed, "A Sufferer," pinned to the entrance wall. No one was in sight. Surprised and amused she took it down, and opened it in her room.

"Dear Sufferer," it ran, "Isn't it awful? I hate it more than anybody. But they won't have anything else. If I move the piano they can't hear, and if I change the tune they howl. It means $1 a night, you see, and just now that's about as big as the harvest moon. When the music quits you'll know I've landed a job. Penitently yours, The Offender."

tired from the office, she ran into Dick Stoddard.

"Congratulate me, Miss Carter. Mr. Hastings sent for me today. He is going to give me a chance. I begin tomorrow."

"Oh, I'm so glad!" she exclaimed. She had taken a decided liking to the lonely young man, although they had not exchanged more than a dozen words in their lives. "I am sure you will make good. But, after all, it's just a case of hard work and endurance."

"Nothing could be worse than—" he began, then stopped. "May I walk home with you, Miss Carter?"

"Certainly. I shall be delighted. It's pretty far, but it—that is—I may as well confess. It saves car-fare."

"And I always walk for the same reason. But tonight I feel rich as a king. Won't you ride?"

"No, thank you. I'd rather walk. By the time I get home there's a chance that the music won't be going. It's such a relief to have everything quiet when I get back."

He looked at her oddly. "Some one with a horn in the neighborhood?"

"No. Just a piano."

"A little girl practicing her scales, I suppose. It must be annoying," he persisted.

"Not that either. It's a full grown man who plays 'Too Much Mustard' with all his might right out of the window. You know how inspiring that is."

She looked at him for sympathy and was surprised at the expression of his face.

"Say," he said, half stopping and drooping his head boyishly. "It's been fierce, hasn't it? I'm awfully sorry, but I never dreamed it was you. I just had to do it, don't you know?"

In an instant she understood and slipped her hand through his arm.

"I suppose now, Mr. Offender, you'll quit just because you've landed a 'job,' and because I was silly enough to fuss. Well—you're just not going to quit! Noy I know that it's you, I'll never notice it at all, and that dollar will buy—"

"Theater tickets!" he interrupted, "and soda water. Come on. Let's have one now!"

NEW AD MAN HAS WIDE EXPERIENCE

DAHL THE HOPE OF

PROGRESSIVE CAUSE

In this state there is going forward a sinister campaign of all reactionary forces to win back control

of the state government which they

held to their own profit and use

through many years of abuses until

it was wrested from them and restored to the people by Robert M.

La Follette.

In this fight of privilege the attack is centered upon the republican nomination for the governorship.

Massed on this wing are all the

forces of the "old guard." Coming

swiftly to reinforce the "old guard"

is the big business organization of

Milwaukee, the "M. & M.", that has been supporting Karel, but which

now has deserted him to fling its

cohort into the midst of the single,

desperate effort to pierce the progressive line.

An army centers its attack upon

the weakest point in the opposing

array. Why have the stalwarts centered upon the governorship as that

weakest point?

Because there is no strong progressive to oppose them?

No!

Because at this point the progressive forces are divided in the support of several good candidates;

they are covering too much territory; their lines are too drawn out.

The stalwarts believe that by concentrating their numbers they can

break through the long line of defense in which a vastly superior force is weakened by being strung

out too far.

To break this attack a positive
and overwhelming counter attack is

CONCENTRATE TO MEET IT.

Massed at the danger point, the
progressive forces can render the Philipp assault a pitiable futility;
they can overwhelm it by force of
numbers until its absurdity will rival
the Fairchild fiasco.

It is time NOW for the progres-
sives to mass their total strength
and by force of numbers seize the
republican nomination for governor.
To do so they must center upon one
strong man.

And who is the strong man of the hour?

Andrew H. Dahl, of Westby.

This statement comes from The Tribune as a concession.

Many weeks ago this paper declared that W. H. Hatton, of New London, was the progressive who should bear the republican shield. It
knew him as clean, able, reliable; it
knew he combined with these the quality of statesmanship. It felt, and still feels, that he would be a great
governor.

Firm in that belief, we took the
field for him, hoping that by an active campaign he would unite behind him the progressive support.

In that he failed, there was something lacking—"punch," let us say—
in his campaign. He made slow and doubtful headway. There was no
crystallization for him. The impression of weak political generalship,
created in his unsuccessful campaign
for the senate six years ago, was confirmed. Hesitancy and lack of confidence in his ability to win
spread among the progressives, in-spite of a state-wide conviction as
to his fitness.

This was the condition when Andrew H. Dahl entered the race. Dahl,
too, was known as a true blue progressive. He had a splendid record
of public service as a legislator and
as state treasurer. He knew how to conduct a campaign. He went into it
with whirlwind intensity. Within ten days his was the most advanced and
widely discussed candidacy for governor of them all.

From that time Mr. Dahl's campaign progressed with steady stride.
Day by day there have come new
evidences of its overshadowing
strength. Many leaders had been committed, but the rank and file fell
in behind him. One by one strong lieutenants came over to him. The
big, thinking machine of the progressives saw his progress, and
joined the movement. Today, he is far in the lead of other progressive
candidates for governor.

Men are but instruments in the progressive movement. The true progressive yields no allegiance to any individual excepting as he believes
that allegiance serves the progressive cause. It was to serve that cause
that we attempted to center the La
Follette strength behind Mr. Hatton.
It is to serve that cause that today,
yielding to the inevitable logic of
current events and with no diminution of respect and high regard for
Mr. Hatton, we take our place in the Dahl column and thus come face to face with the concentrated reaction-
ary forces of Emanuel Philipp.

The army of the Dollar shall not
break through Humanity's defenses
to trample on men and women and
little children.

A BRUTAL
PRACTICE

Laying mines to protect ports
from invasion by hostile warships is
one thing, laying mines in the high seas in the track of passenger and freight shipping is quite another. If it be true, as has been asserted, that
international war rules do not forbid
the latter atrocity it must be admitted that civilization has failed to root out the primitive barbarity of
the peoples. The thing is a shame to the nations.

Quips and Cranks
and Wanton Wiles

Old Adam

Old Adam was the lucky guy,
If history is true:
He did not fret like you and I
When humid days were due.
He had the finest summer suit
This world has ever seen;
As cool as any robe de nuit,
The fig leaf's what I mean.
No Palm Beach outfit did he buy
Nor white silk socks and such,
And then sit 'round and bake and
fry

And rail at weather much.
He wore no hot suspenders and
No clinging B. V. D.'s,
That leaf of his was simply grand,
He never missed a breeze.
Ah! would old Adam's day return,
Back, back to the creation.
When people didn't toast and burn
And boil in perspiration.
The women have returned, almost,
But man, the poor old duffer,
Has got to sit around and bake and fry in many clothes, and suffer.

The Bath

George C. Boldt, the doyen of the hotel keeping world, said in New York:
"It is now the excellent fashion—
and this fashion will be permanent—
to build hotels with a bath for every bedroom."

"I remember the time—of course,
I was then very young—when baths
were not so necessary. In fact, I once overheard a little boy say to his father in a hotel corridor:
"Pa, what are Knights of the Bath?"

"Why, Saturday nights, of course," the father replied.
"Another time we put a rich old
lady from the country—this, too, was
ages ago—in our best room, a room
with a bath.
"The room clerk asked her in the morning how she had slept. She hid
a yawn behind her hand and answered:
"The bed was good, and I'd have slept fine, young man, only I was afraid somebody would be wanting
a bath, and the idea of strangers
passing back and forth through my room worried me so I just couldn't
snatch a wink."

Biblical Lesson

The Sunday school teacher was
making a review of the lessons.

"Who was the wisest man, James?"

"Solomon,"

"That's right. Now, Frank, who

"Jonah?"

"Wrong; but what reason have
you for believing Jonah was the
strongest man?"

"Cause the whale couldn't hold
him after it got him down."—National Monthly.

His Mistake

The apologetic little man pounded the counter with his apologetic little fist.

"I never dealt here before and I'll
never deal here again!" he shouted.
"The management here is rotten.
You have nothing, nothing! I'll try once more. Have you any tomatoes?"

"No, sir; sorry, sir," replied the clerk.

"What? Not even in cans?"

"Not even in bottles."

Headache and Dizziness

Headache is never a disease. It is always a symptom. Applications,
powders and tablets that drug the
headache into quietude are treating
the symptoms, not the disease, always a useless proceeding and often
harmful.

When headache is associated with
some dizziness it is usually the result of nervous exhaustion and will continue as long as the person who is overworked allows the debility to continue. It rapidly disappears when
rest and the proper tonic is taken.

Nervous exhaustion, the cause of
such headaches and dizziness, results
from a strain on the nerves, results
from the rebuilding work of the blood is unable to keep pace. The best tonic for such a condition is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills build
up the blood and strengthen the nerves. With this treatment, unless
the overwork, worry, or whatever
has caused the nervous breakdown,
is persisted in, the headaches, dizziness, nervousness and irritability
that characterize neurasthenia rapidly disappear.

The Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., will send
free on request a helpful little book
on the home treatment of nervous
disorders. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills
are obtainable at any drug store.

bit his mustache until the blood came. He consulted the list in his hand.

"I'll give you another chance!
Have you any potatoes? Think carefully now!"

"Not a potato in the place," said
the clerk apologetically.

"Ye gods! Well, I'll give you one more chance. I'd like to see the end of this. Have you any sugar?"

"Not a grain, sir. Sorry, sir."

The apologetic little man sat down on a stool and let his list flutter to the floor.

"And you call this a grocery store?" he said tauntingly.

"No, sir," corrected the clerk
mildly. "This is a cigar store."

The apologetic little man rolled

Resourceful Woman

One day Jones lost a button from
his serge coat, and on leaving for
the office on the following morning
repair the damage during the day.
Little birdie, of course, sweetly promised.

"Where are you, Harry?" called
the young wife on hearing him ram-
bling around the house that evening.

"What are you looking for?"

"I am looking for my blue serge
coat," answered Harry. "Did you
sew on that button?"

"No, dear," came the startling rejoinder of wife. "I couldn't find
the button so I sewed up the button-
hole."—Kansas City Star.

Old Favorite

A teacher was questioning a class
of boys on birds. Having received
correct answers about feathers, bill,
feet and wings, he put the question:
"What is it a bird can do that I am unable to do?"

"Fly," was the answer he hoped
to get. For several moments the boys thought. At last one held up his hand.

"Well, my lad, what is it?"

"Lay an egg, sir," said the boy.—

Using Judgment

In a deserted kindergarten room
of a settlement a little girl was thumping the piano to her heart's content.

A resident looked in at the door
and smiled. "Go right on, Catharine," she said, "if you're sure your
hands are quite clean."

"O, that's all right, Miss Emily,"
was the answer. "I'm being very careful; I'm just playing on the black keys."

Twilight had faded to starlight
and the mountain range stood black-ly defined against the glittering stars. It was easy to find his way,
for on the level sands there were no
impediments, and when the mountain was reached, a low divide offered him easy passage up the as-
cent. For the most part the slopes
were gradual and in steeper places,
ledges of granite, somewhat like
giant stairs, assisted him to the highest ridge. From this vantage-
point he could see the level plain
stretching away on the further side;
he could count the ridges running
parallel to the one on which he had paused, and note the troughs between, which never descended to the level ground to deserve the name of
valleys. Looking down upon this tortured mass of granite, he seemed gazing over a petrified sea that, in
the fury of a storm, had been caught
at the highest dashing of its waves,
and fixed in threatening motion
which throughout the ages would
remain as calm and secure as the
level waste that stretched from the
abrupt walls in every direction.

On that first ridge he paused but
a moment, lest his figure be outlined
against the night for the keen gaze
of some hidden foe. Steadying the leg with one hand and holding his
gun alert, he descended into the first
trough and climbed to the next ridge,
meaning to traverse the mile of
broken surface, thus setting a granite wall between him and the tel-tale wagon. The second ridge was not so high as the outer wall, and
he passed here, feeling more secure.
The ground was fairly level for perhaps fifty yards before its descent
to the next rolling depression where
the shadows lay in unrelieved gloom.
On the crest, about him, the dim
light defined broken boulders and
great blocks of granite in grotesque
forms, some suggesting fantastic
monsters, others, in sharp-cut or rounded forms seemingly dressed by Cyclopean chisels.

The fugitive was not interested in
the dimly defined shapes about him;
his attention had been attracted by
a cove in the smooth rock ledge
at his feet. This ledge, barren of vegetation, and as level as a slab of
rough marble, showed a long black
line like a crack in a stone pavement. At the man's feet the crevice
was perhaps two feet wide, but as it
stretched toward the west it nar-
rowed gradually, and disappeared
under a mass of disorganized stones,
as a mere slit in the surface.

Presently he set the keg and the tarpaulin-bag on the ground, not to rest his shoulders, but in order to
sink on his knees beside the crevice.
He put his face down over it, listening, peering, but making no discovery. Then he unwound the lariar from about his waist, tied it to the rope
that had been a halter, and having
fastened a stone to one end, lowered
it into the black space. The length of the lariar slipped through his fingers and the rope was following
when suddenly the rock found lodgment at the bottom. On making this discovery he drew up the lariar,
opened the cloth containing the
food, and began to eat rapidly and
with evident excitement. He did not fail to watch on all sides as he enjoyed his long delayed meal, and
while he ate and thus watched, he thought rapidly. When the first cravings of appetite were partly satisfied, he left his baker's bread and
bacon on a stone, tied up the rest of the food in its cloth, rolled this in
the tarpaulin, and lowered it by
means of the lariar into the crevice.
Then, having tied the end of the
rope to the gun-barrel, he placed the
gun across the crevice and swung
himself down into the gloom.

The walls of the crevice were so
close together that he was able to steady his knees against them, but
as he neared the bottom they widened perceptibly. His first act on settling foot to the stone flooring was
to open the tarpaulin, draw forth a candle and a box of matches, and
strike a light. The chamber of granite in which he stood was indeed
narrow, but full of interest and romance. The floor was about the same width in all its length, wide
enough for Willock, tall as he was,
to stretch across the passage. It extended perhaps a hundred feet into
the heart of the rock, showing the

same smooth walls on either side.
The ceiling, however, was varied, as
the outward examination had promised. Overhead the stars were seen
at ease through the two feet of space
at the top; but as he carried his candle forward, this opening decreased, to be succeeded presently
by a roof, at first of jumbled stones
crushed together by outward weight,
then of a smooth red surface extending to the end.

The floor was the same everywhere save at its extremities. At the point of Willock's descent, it dipped
away in a narrow line that would not have admitted a man's body. At
the other end, where he now stood,
it suddenly gave way to empty space.
It came to an end so abruptly that
there was no means of discovering
how deep was the narrow abyss beyond. Possibly it descended a sheer
three hundred feet, the depth of the ridge at that place. On the smooth
floor which melted into nothingness
with such sinister and startling suddenness, the candlelight revealed the
skeleton of a man lying at the margin of the unknown depths. Mingled
with the bones that had fallen apart
with the passing of centuries, was a drawn sword of blackened hilt and rusty blade—a sword of old Spanish
make—and in the dust of a rotted
purse lay a small heap of gold coins
of strange design.

"Well, pard," said Brick Willock
grimly, "you come here first and most obliged to you. You've told me
two things: that once in here, no
getting out—unless you bring along
your ladder; and what's better still,
nobody has been here since you
came, or that wouldn't be my money!
And now having told me all you got
to say, my cavalier, I guess we'd better part." He raked the bones into a heap, and dashed them into the

black gulf. He did not hear them
when they struck bottom, and the
sinister silence gave him an odd
thrill. He shook his head. "If I ever
roll out of bed here," he said, "me
and you will spend the rest of the
time together, pardner."

He did not linger for idle speculation, but drew himself up his dangling rope, and in a short time was
once more outside the place of refuge. Always on the lookout for possible watchers, he snatched up the
bread and meat, and ate as he hastened over the outer ridge and down
the rugged side toward the wagon.
Here he filled a box with canned provisions and a side of bacon, and on top of this he secured a sack of flour. It made a heavy burden, but his long sleep had restored him to
his wonted strength, and he could not be sure but this trip to the wagon would be his last. With some difficulty he hoisted the box to his
herculean shoulder, and grasping a spade and an ax in his

Nelsons and Naps in Pitchers' Battle on North Side Hold the Score at 3 to 3

BIG CONTEST COMES FRIDAY

Japers Trounce Naps and Pirates Beat Stars in the Midget League

In what was to have been the deciding game for the championship of the north side, the Nelsons and the Naps battled last night to a 3 and 3 tie in indoor baseball. The Naps were the first to score, R. Knutson counting in the second frame on a two bagger and a hit by Downey. Lafser and McGuire scored for the Nelsons in the fourth. Carroll came back for the Naps and pushed over a run tying the count. Haefner and Downey scored in the fifth for the respective teams, leaving the game a 3 to 3 tie.

The game was a pitchers' battle throughout, Knutson allowing three hits and Casperson four. Honors on strikeouts were even.

The tie will be played off Friday evening at 7 o'clock.

In the Midget league the Japers trounced the Naps 6 to 4 while the Pirates were beating the Stars by a 1 to 0 count, the closest score of the season.

The Danger of Imitations.

AN OHIO druggist writes to "The Practical Druggist," a prominent New York Drug Journal, as follows: "Please furnish formula for Castoria. All the formulas I have worked with are either ineffective or disagreeable to administer."

To this "The Practical Druggist" replies: "We do not supply formulas for proprietary articles. We couldn't if we wanted to. Your experience with imitative formulas is not surprising, but just what is to be expected. When Castoria is wanted, why not supply the genuine. If you make a substitute, it is not fair or right to label it Castoria. We can give you all sorts of laxative preparations for children, but not Castoria, and we think a mother who asks for Castoria would not feel kindly toward you if you gave her your own product under such a name."

No mother with a spark of affection for her child will overlook the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher when buying Castoria.

Children Cry For

Fletcher's CASTORIA

Extracts from Letters by Grateful Parents to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Mrs. Wm. Palmer, Sterling, Ill., says: "Your Castoria has been my friend for twenty years. I could not keep my children well without it. I cannot speak too highly of your wonderful remedy."

Mrs. Frank H. Cafferty, of Providence, R. I., says: "If all young mothers would use Castoria it will bring up their child. My nurse and doctor can also tell what your Castoria can do."

Howard A. Banks, of Hickory, N. C., says: "Your Castoria is the only physic we ever give our three babies. The fact that we use it promptly is probably the reason we never have to use any other."

Mrs. A. J. Nelson, of Waco, Texas, says: "Enclosed you will find a picture of 'Our little Castoria boy.' When a week old I ordered your Castoria for him, and I have never been up a night with him since."

Mrs. Eva Ott Melin, of Jersey City, N. J., says: "I attribute the present excellent condition of my baby to your Castoria which he has been using since he was three weeks old. I have not lost a night's sleep in seven months."

CHICAGO MEAT PACKERS VOLUNTARILY SURRENDER RECORDS TO DISTRICT ATTORNEY FOR INQUIRY

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Chicago meat packers today voluntarily turned their books over to United States District Attorney Wilkerson, who is conducting a federal investigation of the alarming increase in food prices. Notwithstanding this voluntary action, however, Wilkerson announced that officers of the five biggest packing houses in the city, who were served with subpoenas yesterday, will appear before the federal grand jury which took up the probe today. The packers who surrendered their books were Armour & Co., Swift & Co., Morris & Co., Cudahy Packing company and Schwarzschild & Sulzberger.

REVELER PAYS FINE

J. F. Lane, transient, spent the night in police headquarters and $12.50 with Judge Cronon in police court this morning for being drunk and disorderly last night at a local hotel.

Must Have Been.

Says Mr. Filson Young in the Pall Mall Gazette: "I began yesterday by swimming in a sunlit sea, continued it by motoring through a hundred miles of lilac and gorse, and ended it listening to the most perfect concert program at Queen's hall that I have ever heard. Was it not a happy day?" The answer, Filson, is in the affirmative, Mr. Punch remarks.

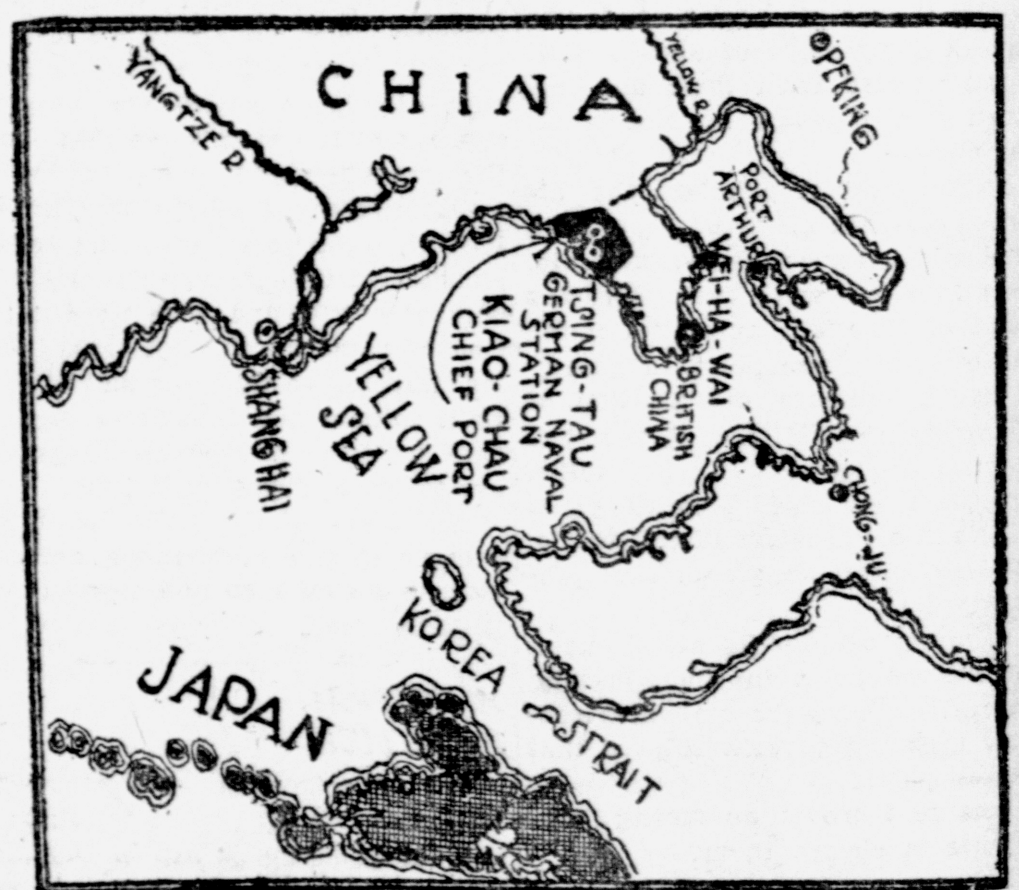

POSAM HEALS SKIN QUICKLY AND PLEASANTLY

The splendid work of healing which Poslam accomplishes in Eczema or any skin disease, makes it best for your use if you seek a remedy more than merely mildly efficient, which will take hold right at the start, stopping all itching, and eradicating the trouble wholly and in very brief time. Because Poslam meets all these demands, it now enjoys the widest success and most extensive sales here and abroad.

Your druggist sells Poslam. For free sample write to Emergency Laboratories, 32 West 25th Street, New York.

Poslam Soap is a positive treat to tender skin or skin subject to eruptions. Non-irritating. 25 cents and 15 cents.

HERE'S MAP SHOWING TERRITORY IN CHINA JAPAN WANTS GERMANY TO CEDE

Japan's ultimatum to Germany demands that the latter power abandon the entire leased territory of Kiau-Chau, "with a view to the eventual restoration of the same to China." German territory about Kiau-Chau covers about 200 square miles. Japan wants Germany to turn Kiau-Chau over to her. Once Japan gets the territory the chances of its being returned to China seem extremely remote.

RUSSIANS INVADE AUSTRIAN STATES

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 19.—The war office announces that the invasion of the Austrian provinces of Galicia and Bukovina is well in progress. It is stated that several divisions, totalling more than 70,000 men, chiefly infantry and artillery, are moving into Austria by several routes, the location of which are withheld. The general staff announces that the capture of Czernowitz, the capital of Bukovina, may soon be looked for.

MINNEAPOLIS PASTOR HERE

The Rev. J. P. Anderson of Minneapolis, will speak tomorrow evening at eight o'clock at the Norwegian Methodist church, Berlin and Sill streets. Rev. Anderson is superintendent of the Minneapolis district of the Norwegian Methodist church.

DON'TS FOR HUNTERS
Don't hunt between sunset and sunrise.
Don't kill harmless birds.
Don't hunt deer with dogs.
Don't fish with more than one line.
Don't destroy a bird's nest.
Don't place or receive game in cold storage.
Don't wantonly destroy or waste game birds, animals or fish.
Don't carry guns while training dogs in off season.
Don't use the hunting license of another. — State Game Laws.

Thirty-two hunting licenses had been issued by County Clerk Bert A.
Jolivet today. One had been issued to a woman, Mrs. F. C. Spang, 400 North Sixth street.

Preparations are being made by the hunters of La Crosse for what is expected to be one of the best hunting seasons for some time.

The official season for duck, madden, rail or rice hen, wild goose or brant, woodchuck, plover and snipe, opens September 7.

No Chicken Hunt Here

Although there is no open season
for prairie chicken in La Crosse county, many will leave the county in search of them. Their haunts may be invaded from September 7 until October 1. Grouse is in the same category.

The season for hunting the rabbit, grey fox or black squirrel does not open until October 10.

Trapping the muskrat is prohibited until October 15, and a still later
date is held for the trapping of mink, fisher and martin, the choicer fur bearing animals. They cannot be taken until November 15.

Mongolian, Chinese or English
pheasants, swan, quail, harmless birds, woodcock or cranes cannot be shot in Wisconsin.

The deer season, as usual, is from November 11 to December 1. Only one deer may be taken.

REFUDIATES NOTES ON HUERTA BONDS

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 19.—At the order of Gen. Carranza, the issuance of about $10,000,000 in government
notes now in circulation will be repudiated tomorrow. The notes were issued by former Provisional President Carranza on the $60,000,000
ten-year gold bonds of the Huerta
administration, but will be repudiated in compliance with the order of Carranza refusing to recognize acts of Gen. Huerta.

CHINESE DISARM GERMAN GUNBOAT

ROME, Aug. 19.—A cablegram received here today from Nankin, China, says the Chinese authorities have disarmed the German gunboat Vaterland.

It is likely that the above message refers to the voluntary inter-ing of some of the small German gunboats in the far east. They were laid up for the war, and the breechblocks of their guns removed, in accordance with the neutrality requirements. The Vaterland is a small river gunboat, 154 feet long, and carried a crew of only forty-five.

BAKING 16,000 LOAVES FOR GERMAN ARMY

The greatest problem to be solved in time of war is not so much that of the movements of the troops
but how to feed them. The great masses of soldiers forming the modern armies need an enormous amount of food and the commissary has to be in very capable hands. Reports from Belgium say that the German prisoners around Liege were starving on account of the failure of the supply train to follow the main army. Every army has a section of bake ovens mounted on trucks in which the bread is baked. The Germans invading Belgium need 16,000 loaves a day and are said to eat less bread than the French.

U. S. INSPECTION OF GRAIN COMING

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Federal inspection of grain, so crushingly defeated by the senate last winter, may come as the result of the present agitation by the cotton state senators and representatives for federal licensing and inspection of cotton warehouses. This was made evident today when the proposal of Senator McCumber, leader of the grain inspection advocates, that the same benefits should be extended to grain
as to cotton, was acceded to by Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia, on the part of the cotton senators.

HARD FIGHTING IN UPPER ALSACE

Swiss Dispatches Tell of Sanguinary Engagements with Germans Along
the Rhine

PARIS, Aug. 19.—That the German army is being driven back throughout Alsace by a French army under the personal command of Gen. Joffre, commander in chief of the French forces, is indicated by an official message made public late today.

It is a report from Joffre to the minister of war, and it is believed here to indicate that the French plan for the invasion of Germany contemplates the capture of Strassburg and the crossing of the Rhine at that fortified point. The message read as follows:

"All day yesterday we continued our progress in Upper Alsace. We have now occupied the larger portion of the Vosges valleys on the Alsatian watershed, from whence we shall soon descend on the plain."

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PARIS, Aug. 19.—"On to Strassburg," was the French war slogan today. The great fortified capital of Alsace-Lorraine is the objective of an immense French army now operating from four central points in Alsace-Lorraine. Troops have been poured across the frontier from the Belfort fortifications and through the passes of the Vosges into the valley of the Schirmeck. The French cavalry advance has penetrated to Rosheim in sight of Molsheim, the gateway to Strassburg.

There has been constant skirmishing, but the German forces in Upper Alsace, plainly following the prearranged plans, have slowly given way before the superior forces of France. They will make their first determined stand at Molsheim, where the French army men report Germany's infantry entrenched across the country, supported by heavy artillery and Krupp rapid-firers.

British General Approves
Gen. Joffre's plan of campaign has been approved by the British field marshal, Sir John French. He spent last night at the war office and went over it very carefully. Certain suggestions were made to use the British army now in the field at points carefully concealed. They will be followed out, Sir John French hurried away from Paris today in a racing automobile, and it was admitted that he was going directly to the front, but whether to Alsace or to Belgium no one can find out.

There is no disposition to belittle the formidableness of the German infantry fighting machine. With the army of the Meuse holding northern Belgium and threatening Liege, the first and second armies of the Moselle, crossing the Meuse at Huy, are at least the equal numerically of the allied army thrown across its front in the neighborhood of Brussels and Waterloo.

May Only Check Germans
French military experts gravely doubt whether the allies in Belgium will be able to do much more than check the German advance. The number of troops sent across the frontier by Germany is declared to be far larger than any information heretofore obtainable had suggested. From the extreme of the Belgian frontier down through Luxembourg the German forces are in position. It is already plain that the Kaiser hopes to crush the allies in one supreme endeavor and then to hurry his fresh troops across Belgium and into France before reinforcements can be drawn from the south.

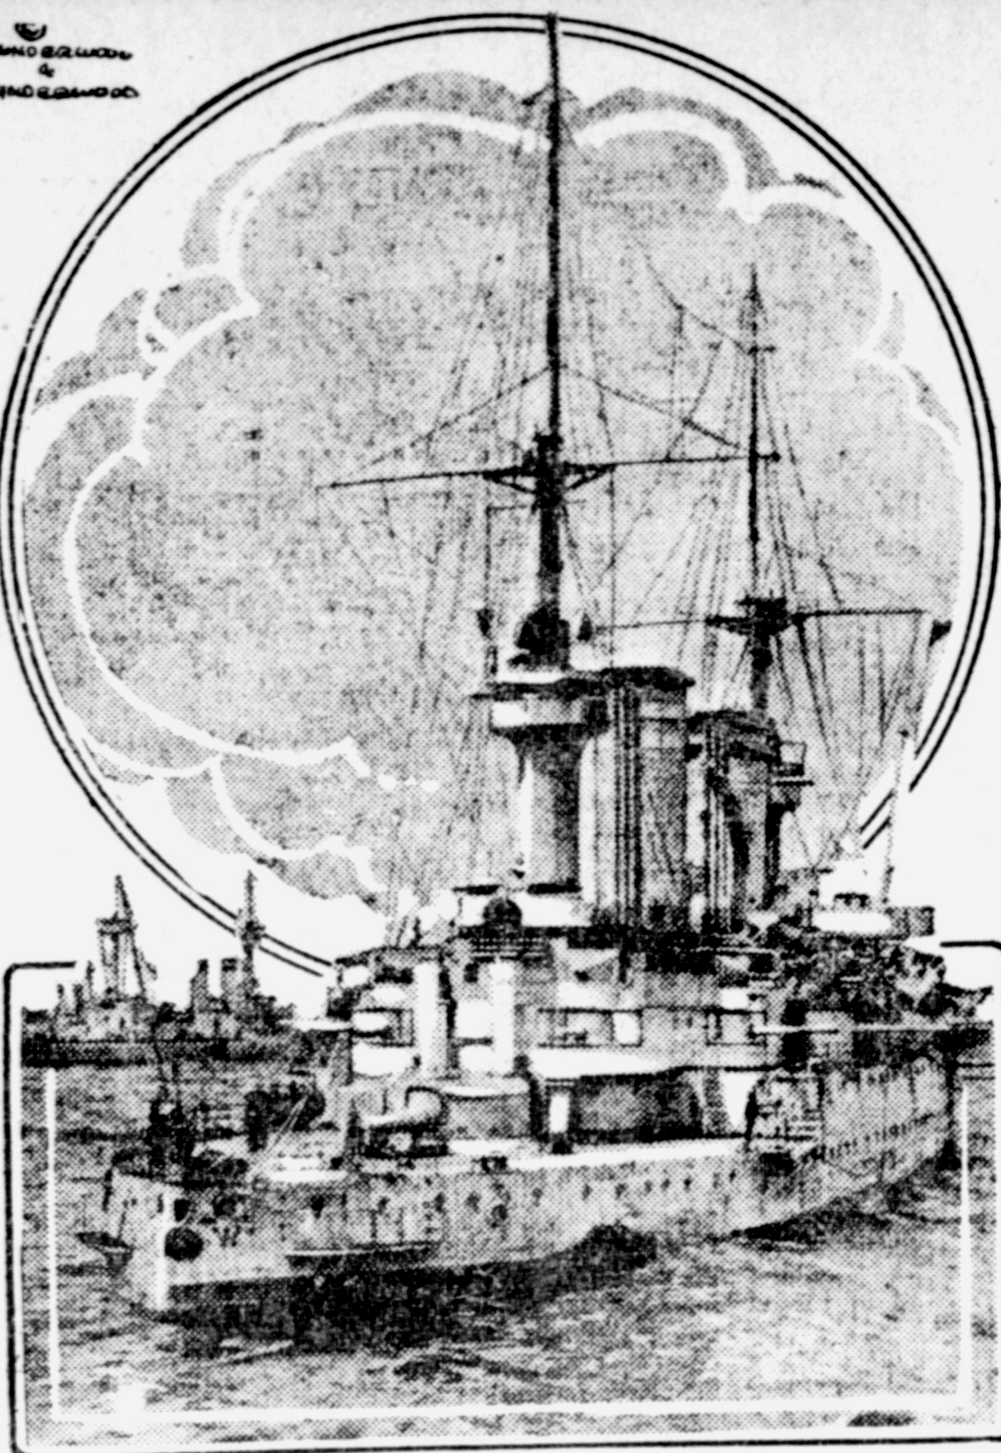

EXPECT SETTLEMENT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The outlook for peaceful settlement of the Santo Domingo revolution, is hopeful, according to a navy wireless dispatch received today at the state department from the American conciliation commission aboard the cruiser Washington at Puerto Plata. Conferences were held yesterday by the commission with President Bordas and several leaders of both factions.

GERMAN CHANCELLOR REITERATES WAR IS FAULT OF THE CZAR

ROTTERDAM, Aug. 19.—In an interview published here today Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, the German imperial chancellor, places the responsibility for the war squarely at Russia's door.

"Germany appreciates the neutrality of Holland, Denmark and Scandinavia," he said, "and will preserve it with all of her strength. For four years I did all I could to prevent hostilities. Even after mobilization I endeavored to localize the fighting. The great responsibility rests with Russia. The incomprehensible feature is England's attitude. What does England want?"

"Germany does not fight for herself alone. With our fate is bound up the fate of other countries. Political factionalism has disappeared. In this war it is an inner moral force that drives. Although our mobilization is not complete, our army has had great success. A nation which has arisen as one man cannot be trifled with."

TREAT AMERICANS WELL IN BERLIN

Press and Public Eager to Do Honor to U. S. and American Flags Are Much in Evidence

BY KARL H. VON WIEGAND
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

THE HAGUE, Aug. 19.—Advices from the United Press Berlin bureau, reaching here today, say the German offensive against France and Belgium is reported well in progress. While all details are suppressed it is stated at the war office that the capture of Brussels is now considered only a question of days. The German infantry advance, upon which great dependence is felt, has already commenced.

One of the most prominent features of the war is the friendship manifested everywhere for Americans. The warhound Americans are being shown every courtesy. The civil authorities have taken the lead in making the involuntary stay of the Americans pleasant. The leading newspapers in their editorial columns urge all Germans to show every consideration to Americans.

The offer of the American colony of their church in Berlin for use as a hospital and the statement that the American Red Cross has included Germany in its comprehensive relief plans, has touched every German heart. The American flags and the German standard are entwined everywhere in Berlin. The display of American flags is second only to that of German and they outnumbered the Austrian. From outward appearances it would seem as though the United States were the third member of the triple alliance.

The Berlin chamber of commerce has opened a long list of German families who are willing to entertain Americans who are without funds, without cost to them. Many of the hotels announce they are willing to trust Americans who need food or lodging and that they can send the funds when they get back to their homes.

The Hotel Adlon, where fully 75 per cent of the Americans visiting Berlin stay, is trusting scores of these in Berlin and is actually advancing money to them on their personal "I. O. U.'s."

Stories printed in the United States which tell of alleged maltreatment of Americans by Germans are absolutely without foundation.

BIG MEN GATHER TO HEAR MORRIS

La Crosse Senatorial Candidate Assured "Things Look Fine" by Progressive Enthusiasts

SAUK CITY, Wis., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—Lieutenant Governor Thomas Morris motored to Elroy from Mauston Monday afternoon and was greeted at Elroy by J. F. Dithmar, brother of Edward Dithmar, republican candidate for lieutenant governor. Walter S. Hake, prominent business man and member of the county board of education, and H. H. Dunn, an Elroy editor, also greeted the lieutenant governor, and informed him that "things are looking fine." He spoke to a large crowd.

From Elroy Mr. Morris, accompanied by Mr. Dunn, and others, came to Wonevok where Mr. Morris spoke in the evening.

Among those to greet him at Wonevok were Scott Gale, a prominent citizen; his son, Arthur T. Gale, president of the State Bank of Wonevok, and Dr. Goldin.

Sauk county was invaded by Mr. Morris Tuesday, the trip ending at Sauk City.

The senatorial candidate has been living up to his program of "a county a day and to date has filled all bookings."

For a few days Mr. Morris was troubled with severe hoarseness, the result of open air work in Green Bay, Brown county, but has fully recovered his normal tone. He is standing the strenuous work splendidly and is in the best of condition to keep up the pace until primary day.

JUDGE IS SEVERE SLEEP DISTURBERS PAY HEAVY FINES

It costs money to whoop 'em up in La Crosse when Judge Cronon gets hold of the offenders. He set an example to all whoopers yesterday when a disorderly party of revelers were brought before him charged with creating a disturbance at Eleventh and Vine streets Monday night.

"Time for all good people to be in bed," soliloquized the court, as he assessed each of the accused $12.50 and costs. John Alvtz, Bert Lang, May Shepdelaw and Mrs. Rose Stodda each paid up and were allowed to go.

EDWARDS IS FINED CONFESSES GUILT

M. N. Edwards, Minneapolis swindler who attempted to obtain $2,000 from Dr. James Wilson, an Iowa practitioner, yesterday pleaded guilty and was fined $500 and costs in county court. The fine and $5.00 costs was paid.

GERMAN CHARGE FAVORS GIVING UP CHINESE PORT

Diplomat of Germany to U.
S. Says Germany Should Cede to China

THEY CANNOT DEFEND TERRITORY

Charge Says that Kaiser
Has Only 3,000 Troops in the Disputed Province

HAVE NO FAITH IN JAP WORD

Diplomat Refuses to Believe the Mikado Would Give Port to China

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—To prevent terrible slaughter of Germans in Kiao Chau, Charge Von Haimhausen of the German embassy today said he believed the best thing Germany could do would be to cede the province back to China. Charge Haimhausen was greatly concerned after a conference with Secretary Bryan today over the Japanese ultimatum, although he said he had no advice from Berlin.

Only 3,000 Soldiers
"Germany has only 3,000 soldiers at Kiao Chau," said Haimhausen, "and with the present fortifications there it would be impossible successfully to resist a Japanese attack. Personally, I think the best thing Germany can do is to give the province to China. That will prevent a slaughter of thousands of German business men, their wives and children, and the larger part of the army stationed in the province."

"Germany proposed at the outset of the war the neutralization of the territory in the east, but this was refused by Japan. While we fully realize that we cannot retain Kiao Chau, we, of course, cannot give it up without protest."

No Faith in Japs
The charge said he had "absolute no faith" in Japan's statement that she would turn Kiao Chau over to China. He said Japan would be "like England, always making promises and never keeping them."

Von Haimhausen said he brought up the matter at his conference with Bryan, but that the secretary of state informed him that because the United States was neutral, he could not discuss the Japanese ultimatum.

Bryan informed the German charge, he said, that the wireless and cable censorship question would be taken up at today's cabinet meeting.

Germans Ask U. S. Protest
The National German Alliance, with headquarters at Philadelphia, today telegraphed President Wilson, asking that he and congress appeal to Japan not to carry the war into the far east. The alliance claims there is no reason to oust Germany from the far east and suggests that resort be made to The Hague to adjust the difficulty over Kiao Chau.

Call on China
SHANGHAI, Aug. 19.—The Japanese government has sent a formal request to China asking the government to use all of its influence to persuade Germany to evacuate Kiao Chau peacefully and to turn the territory over to the Chinese republic.

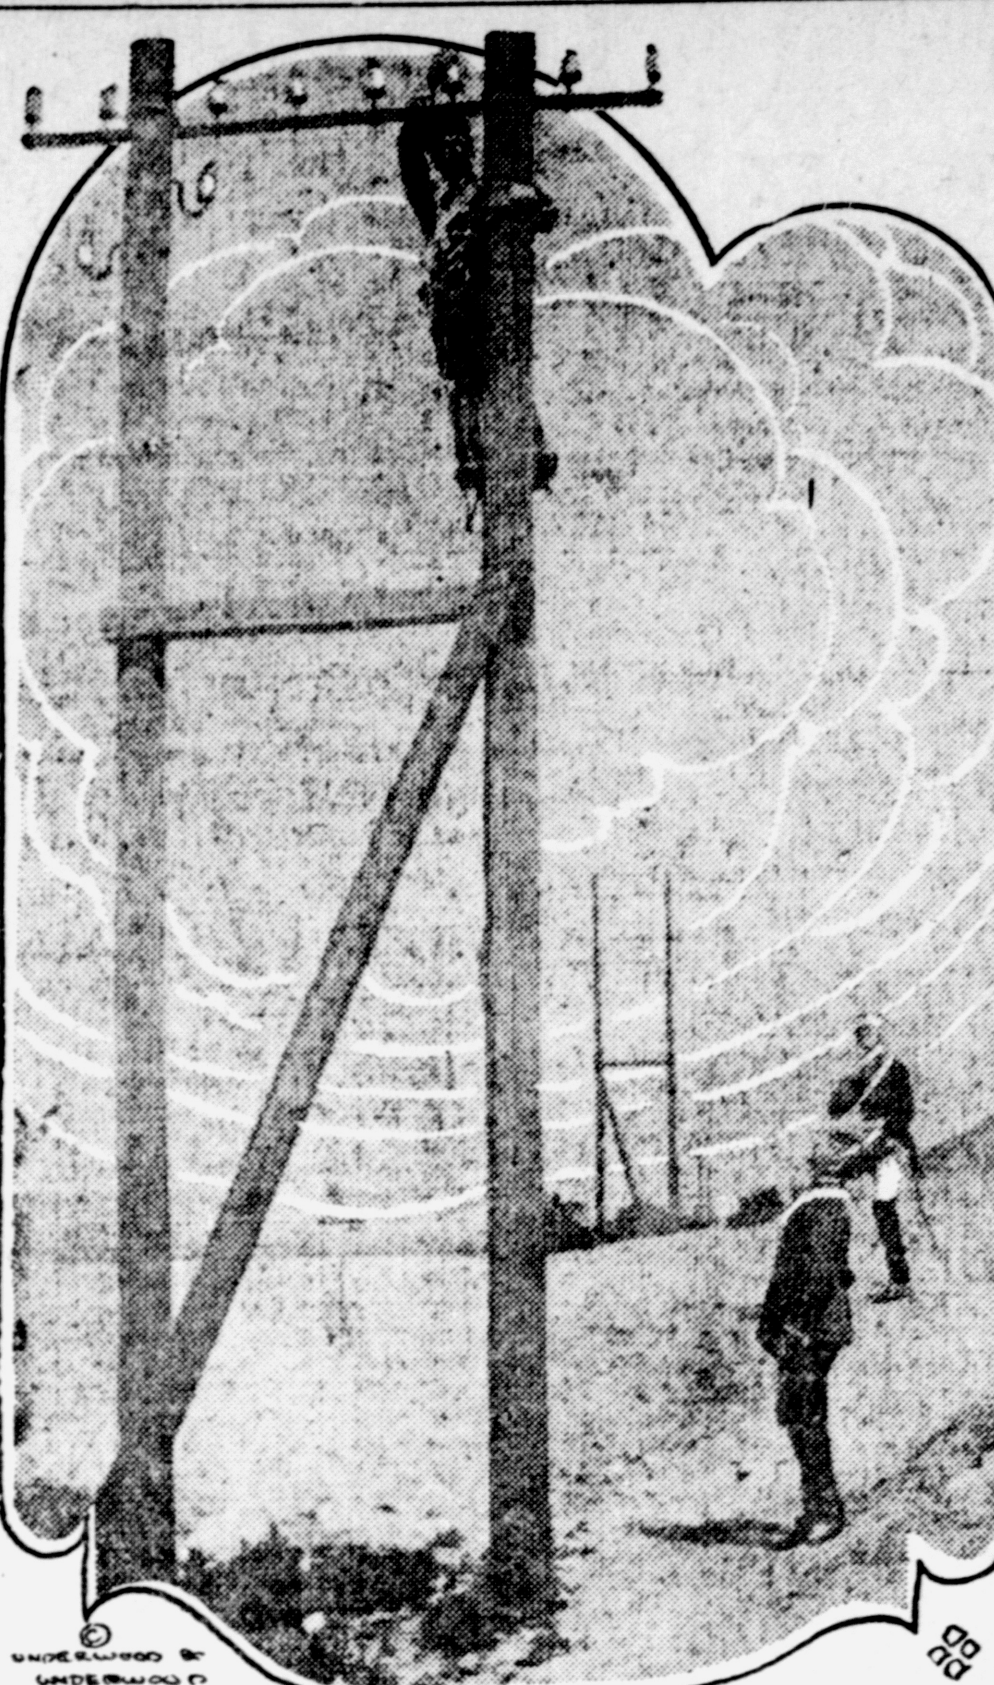

KINGSTON EXCITED

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Wild rumors and reports circulated since war was declared have kept Kingston, Jamaica, in a fever of excitement, passengers arriving here on the steamer Pastores declared today. Only a week ago, a report spread that Germans had poisoned the water and many natives took to their beds, thoroughly convinced that they were about to die.

FEW AMERICANS IMPERILED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—There are only 12 or 15 Americans in Kiao Chau, the German province in China, involved in Japan's ultimatum, state department officials declare today. About half are women and children. In event of hostilities they will be sent to Tsinan-Su, a town about a hundred miles away.

GERMANS CUT SELVES OFF FROM WORLD

Germany has cut herself off from communication with the outside world. Telegraph and cable wires have been cut and wireless stations closed. This is considered a wise war measure. The picture shows the German signal corps cutting telegraphic communication at the Belgian frontier.

ACCUSES HUSBAND BUT SHE RELENTS WHEN COURT ACTS

THEY GO HOME TOGETHER

Judge Drops Case When Tearful Woman Offers
Charles Friesheim
New Chance

Tearfully relating the old, old story of a husband's cruelty, a tale of true love but of many vicissitudes, Mrs. Charles Friesheim, North La Crosse, appeared in county court today with her three small children, to ask that her husband be punished.

She told a tale of abuse and mistreatment, and accused her husband of choking her and badly frightening her children while she lay in bed this morning. The judge's stern heart was moved.

Friesheim was brought into court. He was ordered roughly to the witness stand.

Then the woman relented. Mrs. Friesheim didn't want her husband to go to jail. No—she wanted him to come home with her and her children right away. She pleaded with the court with the tears streaming down her face. Court took a recess while wife and erring spouse made up.

They went away together—arm in arm.

REPORT SHIP COLLISION

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Reports reached the Maritime exchange this afternoon that the steamers Westland and Manna Hata had collided near Northeast lightship, Cape May, N. J. The Manna Hata carries freight and a few passengers from New York to Baltimore. The Westland was bound from Cuba to New York with a cargo of sugar. The steamer Porto Rico is standing by to render any assistance that may be needed.

GIVE NO WORD OF BRITISH FORCE

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The first mention of the British over-seas expedition by officials came today. But it was tantalizingly deficient in actual information, inasmuch as the location of the expedition, the number of men engaged or the time when it was started was withheld. The official statement, issued by the war bureau, simply read:

"The embarkation, transportation and disembarkation of the British expeditionary army, men as well as stores and munitions, was carried out with the greatest precision along the lines planned many months ago by the war office. There was not a single casualty and the expedition was landed at its destination in readiness to take the field."

RUSSIANS REPORT MOVE ON PRUSSIA

Say Czar's Forces Have Crossed the German Frontier in Six Places

AUSTRIANS CLAIM A VICTORY

Say They Have Repulsed Russian Invaders and Have Crossed Into Russian Territory

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 19.—The general Russian advance along the German and Austrian frontiers is now in progress. An official statement issued by the war office today declared:

The German frontier has been crossed by forces of the czar in at least six different places. Small German forces were driven back and several hundred prisoners taken.

Cavalry in Action
The Russian cavalry is in action along miles of the Prussian and Austrian frontiers. The entire cavalry forces of the nation have been pushed to the front to prevent raids by either the Germans or the Austrians while the infantry was being mobilized. As a result it is stated there have been numerous skirmishes but none assumed the importance of a general engagement.

Meanwhile, the mobilization for all practical purposes is completed. Enroute to Moscow the czar was greeted everywhere with outbursts of patriotic enthusiasm. It is stated here that he plans to go to the front as soon as it shall be determined where he can best serve the nation.

Austria Reports Russ Repulse
VIENNA, Aug. 18.—(Delayed.)—The Austrian advance into Russia is in progress. The Russian invading army, in the Stry valley, had been driven back on the frontier.

The enemy's force consisted for the most part of Cossacks. The Austrian army corps, which were withdrawn from the Serbian boundary and replaced there by fresh levies, have assumed the offensive and Austrian cavalry has penetrated the Russian frontier at a number of points.

Beyond the declaration that the Russian invasion has been checked and that the Austrian losses are "not out of proportion to the importance of the movement," no details of the fighting have been made public.

An official announcement from the war office says: "The mobilization of the army has been completed brilliantly."

It had not been expected that the mobilization would be finished much before the last of the month.

TOY SHIP SAFE

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—With dealers admitting that a near toy famine is in prospect for next Christmas because of the war, what will probably prove to be the last cargo of German toys this year, arrived in American waters today. The Hamburg-American line officers announced that the liner Arcadia arrived safely inside Cape Henry.

BOLT STRIKES TWO WHILE WINDSTORM SWEEPS OVER CITY

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Goyette of French Island Hit
by Lightning While Asleep

BOTH ARE RECOVERING TODAY

Thirty Mile Wind Razes Trees and Awnings; Causeway Littered
with Debris

CONCRETE BARN BLOWS DOWN

Storm Path Several Miles Wide Marked by Disabled Telephones and "Wire Troubles"

Two persons were struck by lightning, both La Crosse telephone companies suffered losses to rural and city lines, several telegraph lines were blown down, and a score of trees about the city were partially stripped of limbs and foliage in the wind and rain storm which struck La Crosse at 1:40 yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Goyette, French Island, proprietors of a boat livery, were struck by a bolt while fast asleep in their cottage near the bank of French Slough. The lightning struck a wire clothes line in their yard, bounded along it, and entered a window near which the line was fastened.

Mr. and Mrs. Goyette were thrown out of bed and Mrs. Goyette was rendered unconscious. Her husband was only slightly stunned. He gave her what assistance he could and tried to call a doctor, but his telephone was knocked out by the same bolt and he had to drive to LaCrosse for assistance. Here he secured the services of Dr. R. M. I. Kinnear who is attending Mrs. Goyette today. She will recover.

Wind Plays Great Havoc
Following a day during which La Crosse suffered intensely with the heat, a wind sprung up at 1:40 this morning. It increased momentarily until rain began to fall. Bolts of lightning that shook the city continued for half an hour.

According to the government weather bureau here, the wind attained a velocity of approximately thirty miles an hour, with a rain fall of a quarter of an inch.

The La Crosse Telephone company reported severe damage to rural lines leading out of the city and several lines down within the city limits.

The Bell Telephone company suffered similar damage.

Both companies expect the damage will be repaired before tonight. Extra crews are working on the rural lines. The underground conduit work of the La Crosse Telephone company in La Crosse saved it from greater loss than might have occurred with their old overhead lines.

Telegraph companies report slight damages.

The storm swept over a territory covering several miles distant from the boundaries of La Crosse in all directions. Crops suffered but slight damages as harvest is practically over in most localities adjacent to La Crosse.

The north side suffered the greatest damage in the loss of trees. A tree on the property of O. P. Blanchard, 1003 Caledonia street, lost a huge limb. Awnings were down in all sections of the city.

The causeway leading from the south to the north side was strewn this morning with small limbs of trees and leaves. Several trees on the south side were stripped of leaves.

A peculiar freak of the wind was seen at West Salem where the $2,000 concrete barn on the premises of the county insane asylum, recently erected, blew to the ground. The barn was constructed of concrete blocks, with only the upper part of wood.

A large tobacco shed, belonging to Martin Slack of Viroqua, was completely demolished by the wind last night. Several other buildings were damaged in that vicinity. Crops, especially tobacco, were hurt considerably.

CARRANZA ENTERS MEXICO TOMORROW

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—President Wilson today denied a published report that he had threatened to send 100,000 American troops into Mexico if the constitutionalists followed their original plan of taking the capital by arms. Paul Fuller, of Coudert Brothers, New York lawyers, was credited as his emissary on this alleged mission. It was admitted that Fuller went to Mexico, but it was officially stated, not on such a mission.

Consul Silliman, wiring the state department today from Mexico City reported that quiet reigned in the Mexican capital, and that business was practically suspended while preparations were being made for the formal entry of Carranza tomorrow.

CHARGES FALSE ARREST

DANVILLE, Ill., Aug. 19.—Tony Bugges, arrested last April on a charge of murder in connection with the disappearance of the Rev. Louis R. Patmont of Milwaukee, today filed suit for $10,000 damages for false arrest against Rev. J. S. Bickel of this city, leader in the search for Patmont.

QUIMET QUALIFIES IN NATIONAL EVENT
Title Holder Makes Good Scores in the Qualifying Rounds Yesterday; Other Amateurs Do Well

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Three amateurs, including Francis Ouimet, the titleholder, were among the thirty-two men who qualified on Tuesday for the national open golf championship at Midlothian Country club.

Ouimet, playing steadily, but not brilliantly, took 148 strokes for the thirty-six holes, two higher than the medal score of the day, made by James Barnes of Whittemarsh club, Philadelphia.

Warren K. Wood of Homewood club, Chicago, formerly western amateur champion, and W. Rautenbach, amateur champion of Chicago, were the other two amateurs to qualify, outstripping many professionals with 155 each.

The main attraction for the public was the playing of Francis Ouimet, who appeared in the west for the first time since he sprang into fame by taking the national championship last year in Brookline in a spectacular playoff with Edward Ray and Harry Vardon, English professionals.

A large gallery followed the champion throughout the thirty-six holes. Playing with M. J. Brady of Wollaston, Ouimet's game did not vary perceptibly during the entire day. He took 74 each round, driving straight and far. His approach work was indifferent at times and his putting was never spectacular. He outplayed his professional companion most of the time, however, actually driving first and putting last.

Brady displayed some brilliant strokes, notably in recoveries from bunkers. He was only two strokes behind Ouimet at the finish.

WHEAT CARGO TAKEN
LONDON, Aug. 19.—The Austrian steamer Dinorah, wheat laden, is reported captured off the island of Guernsey by a French destroyer. The Express says German vessels captured to date by the allies total 200, with a tonnage of 1,000,000 and a value, with cargoes of $300,000,000.

MRS. FRED GRAEFF CROSSES DIVIDE
Mrs. Fred Graeff, 57 years of age, died at her home, 1523 Mississippi street, at 4 o'clock yesterday from a complication of diseases after an illness of six months, during which time she had been confined to her home.

Born in Hanover, Germany, March 4, 1857, Mrs. Graeff came to America at the age of 15. She settled with her parents in La Crosse, and has been a resident ever since.

Surviving her are her husband and two daughters, Mrs. L. H. Sill, 1523 Mississippi street, and Mrs. Herman Kepple, Campbell.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. from the home and at 2:30 from the German Reformed church. Rev. E. Vornholt will officiate. Burial will take place at Oak Grove cemetery.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA
Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Thickness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

SEND 140 AMERICANS OUT
WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—One hundred and forty Americans were sent from Hamburg to Rotterdam by special train, Consul Morgan informed the state department today. The dispatch was undated, and for this reason the state department did not know when the train left.

Harder Task to Do Present Duty.
Pleasant it is to entertain the picture of ourselves in some future scene, planning wisely, feeling nobly, and executing with the holy triumph of the will; but it is a different thing, not in the green avenues of the future, but in the hot dust of the present moment, to do the duty that waits and waits us.—James Martineau.

Playground Notes

The Imperials by defeating the Hoosiers Monday night and the Krobs Tuesday night have undisputed claim to the pennant in the South side senior playground ball league. This is the third consecutive year that the Imperials have won the flag. Pappenus, manager of the team deserves a great deal of credit for the remarkable showing made, having guided the team for three years. The champions have been presented with bronze watch fobs commemorating their victory.

The junior championship was decided Monday evening when the Dodgers of Hood street played the Fairies of West avenue at the latter grounds. The Fairies took the game by the score of 6 to 1. Both teams were tied for honors until this game. Denney who pitched for the Fairies and who also captained the team was the main factor in the defeat of the team from the rival ground.

The Midget honors were taken by the Hood street Eagles. This team is composed of some fast players who play consistent ball. F. Hefti and R. Rippe, battery for the Eagles, did excellent work throughout the season.

Mystical Number on Coin.
No one seems unwilling to accept a 25-cent piece, even though there are on each coin the following hoodoo combinations: Thirteen letters in the scroll held in the eagle's beak; thirteen feathers in each wing; thirteen tail feathers; thirteen upright bars in the shield; thirteen arrowheads; thirteen leaves on the branch; thirteen letters in the words "quarter dollar."

201 LOST IN FIGHT
PARIS, Aug. 19.—In the official story of the sinking of the Austrian cruiser Zenta off Antivari in a fight with the French fleet last Sunday, made public here today, it is stated that 201 of her officers and crew were drowned or killed in action. The Zenta was built in Trieste, in 1897.

Inhabitability of Mars.
The question of the habitability of Mars is one on which astronomers differ greatly. The sole evidence in favor of the existence of intelligent beings on it is the obviously artificial nature of the so-called canals as some astronomers see them. There cannot be said to be evidence of additional canal construction on the planet, the whole question of the existence of any canal being still a matter of controversy.

"I have found Peruna to be an Excellent Tonic"

Received a Medal from Her State in Recognition of Services

Mrs. Perry, of 819 18th Avenue, N. E., Minneapolis, Minn., is the wife of Commander Freeman G. Perry, well known in G. A. R. and society circles. She is the author of "Minnehaha Laughing Water." She says: "I have tried Peruna and found it an excellent tonic and cure for catarrh. It is good for all catarrhal affections of the stomach, and all diseases leading to consumption. Also for bronchial troubles. I believe it to be one of the best medicines on the market. Thousands can testify to its cure with the same pleasure that I can."

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.

CIRCUS GROUNDS SCENE OF RUNAWAY

Farmer's Team Breaks Away When Frightened by Unusual Noises; One Horse Killed

LANSING, Iowa, Aug. 19.—Saturday, the big circus day in town, witnessed the excitement of a runaway, near the circus grounds, the team belonging to Mr. Waldron near Lycurgus, becoming frightened at the passing autos, and unusual noises about. In the course of its mad rush the team encountered a heavy car, breaking the tongue of the vehicle to which they were hitched, the broken tongue impaling one of the horses, which died almost instantly from its injuries.

Many Attend Fair

Wednesday, the exodus to the county fair from this section numbered in the hundreds, Lansing day being observed at Waukon. The Yeoman fraternity is holding forth in numbers also, a number of extra train being run to accommodate the members of that order, who will listen to Hon. Mr. Dennison of Dubuque, one of the leading lecturers on fraternal subjects in the state.

Ladies Give Supper

The First Presbyterian church ladies held a lawn supper at the James Hartley home Wednesday, beginning at 4 p. m. Free transportation was provided for all wishing to attend.

Roads Improved

Nothing seems too hard for the good roads committee to accomplish, and each day sees more efficient tasks completed. The highway about the park has received a treatment, and the results are worthy of more than ordinary mention. Ruts that have menaced the public all summer have been filled and the rough spots smoothed out, until transportation is a pleasure to all going around this beautiful drive. Last week the roads four miles west of the city were the object of the committee's labors, and much favorable comment was heard on all sides from the traveling public as to the betterment of conditions. It can be safely stated that no more laudable project was ever launched into activity than the Lansing Good Roads commission.

Sunday evening parties motoring to Lansing ran into a flock of ducks on the William Young, Sr., farm, and practically wiped out the entire number. Mr. Young is anxious to apprehend the offenders, and they will in all probability be called upon to make the loss good.

Lansing News Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson of Waukon were week end guests of the Will Gelo family of this city. Mrs. Gelo and Mrs. Thompson being sisters.

George Metcalfe and wife were Saturday arrivals in the city for a short stay with home folks, the G. W. Metcalfe family. The young couple are members of a large orchestra stationed at a summer resort near Chain O' Lakes, Wis.

Heat so intense as to be almost unbearable, has been the history of the first two days of this week. One hundred and seven degrees were registered Monday, and Tuesday at 3 o'clock in the afternoon the thermometer went one degree higher than the previous day, hovering there for a short time, an electric storm then breaking that relieved the humidity slightly.

Mrs. Laura Nordmark and Mrs. Charles Camp of Nebraska and New York, respectively, left Tuesday night for their homes, after a pleasant seven weeks' stay with relatives and friends in and about Lansing.

Miss Selma Thorsten left the latter part of the past week for a short sojourn with her sister, Mrs. Alfred Peterson of Cresco.

Miss Anna Chaffe of Syracuse, N. Y., who has been visiting relatives, the Rev. Pease family, was again called to Nashua to assist in the care of a friend who has been recently operated on at her home in that place.

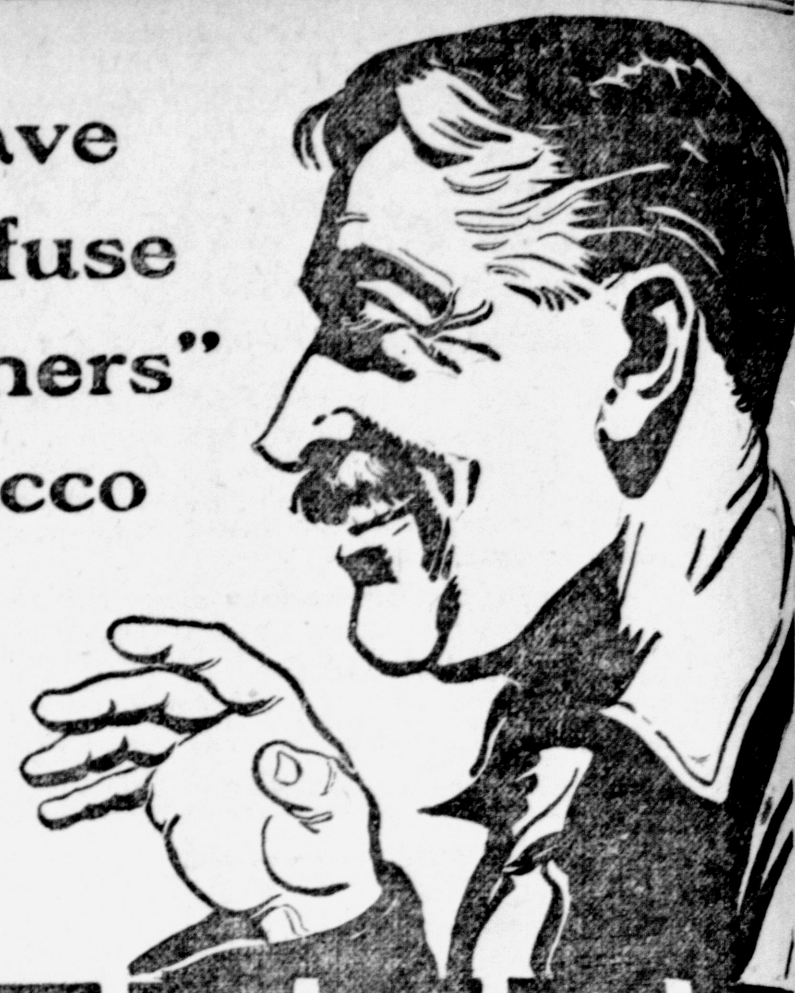

Joseph Coyle of Dubuque was shaking hands with friends and old acquaintances Saturday and Sunday.

The Saturday evening ball at the Opera house was very well attended, about fifty couples tripping the light fantastic to the music of one of the local orchestras.

A Summer Trip Through the Northwest and to the Pacific Coast

Everyone should know something of our wonderful country in the great Northwest and on the Pacific Coast—Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Oregon, Washington and California, all can be visited comfortably, and without great expense by taking advantage of the low price Summer Tour tickets.

Really, there can be nothing more attractive nor more educational than a tour through this country, with possibly a visit to the Yellowstone or to Glacier National Park enroute.

Let me tell you what can be done. Let me send you some descriptive printed matter. Let me help plan a trip for you. That's my business and part of the Burlington Route (C. B. & Q. R. R.) service.

DREAM OF JULES VERNE SURPASSED

When Jules Verne gave his rare work "Around the World in Eighty Days," to the humor loving world little did he realize in years to come his dream was to be surpassed in hundreds of ways.

It remained, however, for the famous traveler, Luman C. Mann, to make it possible for every man, woman and child to make this same trip in ninety minutes or one hour and a half.

With the aid of the motion picture camera at the Bijou you will be able to make the trip, see all the principal points of earth, learn of the manners, customs, pleasures and habits of all races.

Mr. Mann declares if one were to follow the path laid out by the camera it would take at least two and a half years, and expense close to $25,000, as eight thousand miles of the trip was made on foot or with the aid of donkeys, camels and row boats.

Mr. Mann will lecture this attraction, matinee and evening on Friday and Saturday of this week at The Bijou.

CHANCE TO QUIT IS POINTED OUT TO TAIL ENDERS

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—A candidate whose nomination papers have been filed may withdraw and his name need not go on the ballot, according to an unofficial opinion by Attorney General Owen given to County Clerk John Berger of Sawyer county, where a democratic candidate for district attorney desires to withdraw. The attorney general said the district attorney is the proper person to rule on this question, but that owing to the nearness of the primary and the general interest in the subject, he (the attorney general) replied to person. The opinion points out that even after the filing of nomination papers the candidate may keep his name off the ballot by failing to file a declaration that he will qualify.

REPORTS 10,000 U. S. FOLK IN GERMANY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19—Ambassador Gerard at Berlin cabled the state department today that he estimated there were 10,000 Americans in Germany, including women and children, eight to nine thousand of whom want transportation immediately. Minister Stovall at Bern, Switzerland, informed the state department that he had arranged for the cashing of checks on the state department. This will afford relief to several thousand American tourists who have been unable to get funds there.

AMERICANS JOIN ARMY OF FRENCH

PARIS, Aug. 19—But 3,500 Americans are now in Paris, according to estimates made today by members of the embassy relief committee. It is believed that those remaining may soon be able to leave for London. Two weeks ago there were at least 7,500 Americans in the French capital.

The number of American volunteers to fight with the French army is growing daily. Andre Lesourd, an officer in the reserves who is drilling the Americans, said there had been 200 enlistments today and more are expected. William Benjamin Thaw has volunteered and turned over his high powered aeroplane to the government. Stephenson MacGregor, the American aviator, has also enlisted and with Thaw will probably be assigned to the aviation corps.

WANT BOHEMIAN REPUBLIC

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 19—A movement to have Bohemia declared a republic, should the allied armies win, has been started by Omaha Bohemians, who are subscribing to a fund to send representatives to the peace conference when it is called.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19—An official announcement that the position of the allied armies was excellent, was issued by the war office this afternoon. It declared that every raid by the German army in the direction of Brussels has been definitely stopped by the Belgian or allied troops.

The statement of the war office showed, however, that the Germans have pressed well in toward the city as one of the German cavalry camps was placed at Gambioux, just north of Namur. The report of the operations said that the German line now extends through Gambioux, Ottenhoven and Veim.

ROME, Aug. 19—Word reached here today that Emperor William of Germany accompanied by the entire German general staff, reached Mainz today. From that point the kaiser expects to direct the entire campaign against the French and Belgian lines. Earlier reports from Holland said the kaiser was expected to go to Mainz today. Mainz is one of the chief fortified cities of Germany, the largest city in the grand duchy of Hesse on the left bank of the Rhine.

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 19—An extraordinary session of the Texas legislature was called today by Governor Colquitt to meet here August 24 to enact relief measures for Texas cotton growers, in view of the cotton panic due to the European war.

LONDON, Aug. 19—A dispatch to the Central News, from Amsterdam, unconfirmed from any other source, says that the captain of the Dutch steamer Episcopus reports seeing a German battleship in the harbor of Tromsø, which had been disabled in a battle. He says her funnels were wrecked and one side was smashed by shell fire.

ROME, Aug. 19—A correspondent of the newspaper Corriere d'Italia, at Nish, wires that the biggest battle of the war so far as Serbia is concerned is now in progress near Belgrade. The correspondent says that 50,000 Austrians attacked four Serbian army corps on Sunday and that the battle was still in progress today.

LONDON, Aug. 19—Cables from Nairobi say that a force of 100 Germans yesterday seized Loveta on the western frontier of British East Africa.

LONDON, Aug. 19—The czar is to take the field with his army and remain with the troops throughout the campaign, a news dispatch from St. Petersburg declares today.

LONDON, Aug. 19—Reports reaching here from The Hague and printed in the London newspapers, says it is persistently rumored there that Crown Prince Frederick William has been wounded in the fighting in Belgium and has been taken to Aix La Chappelle, where the Kaiser will join him.

ANTWERP, Aug. 19—Because of the report that German cavalry patrols have been seen in the vicinity of Antwerp, the burgomeister has ordered the civil guard placed on a war footing. They will be used to assist the garrison.

ATHENS, Aug. 19—The Greek government late yesterday served a virtual ultimatum on Turkey. Following up the warning earlier in the day, the Greek foreign office sent direct word to the Turkish government that if the report that Turkish troops are already in Bulgaria enroute to the Greece frontier is true, then Greece will take immediate action with her entire army and navy.

The situation is very serious and the Greece army and navy are mobilized.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19—A dispatch from St. Petersburg dated August 12, received today by the state department, stated that the czar had decided to go to Moscow and then to take personal command of the army at headquarters on the German frontier.

LONDON, Aug. 19—According to the Russian embassy eleven members of the Russian Imperial family are already at the front.

War Bulletins

BRUSSELS, Aug. 19—An official announcement that the position of the allied armies was excellent, was issued by the war office this afternoon. It declared that every raid by the German army in the direction of Brussels has been definitely stopped by the Belgian or allied troops.

The statement of the war office showed, however, that the Germans have pressed well in toward the city as one of the German cavalry camps was placed at Gambioux, just north of Namur. The report of the operations said that the German line now extends through Gambioux, Ottenhoven and Veim.

ROME, Aug. 19—Word reached here today that Emperor William of Germany accompanied by the entire German general staff, reached Mainz today. From that point the kaiser expects to direct the entire campaign against the French and Belgian lines. Earlier reports from Holland said the kaiser was expected to go to Mainz today. Mainz is one of the chief fortified cities of Germany, the largest city in the grand duchy of Hesse on the left bank of the Rhine.

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 19—An extraordinary session of the Texas legislature was called today by Governor Colquitt to meet here August 24 to enact relief measures for Texas cotton growers, in view of the cotton panic due to the European war.

LONDON, Aug. 19—A dispatch to the Central News, from Amsterdam, unconfirmed from any other source, says that the captain of the Dutch steamer Episcopus reports seeing a German battleship in the harbor of Tromsø, which had been disabled in a battle. He says her funnels were wrecked and one side was smashed by shell fire.

TALKED TOO MUCH ROETHE 'PINCHED' BY RUSTIC COP

Gubernatorial Aspirant Couldn't Fool Policeman at Antigo; Friends Take a Hand

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—Henry E. Roethe's experience at Sturgeon Bay in being taken by a waitress for a farmer and segregated in the hotel dining room was matched by an incident in which he was the victim at Antigo a few days ago. While talking to a crowd on the street from a wagon, the chief of police came along, yanked him off, and was escorting him to the "lock-up" when the crowd and some influential citizens interfered and established his identity as a republican candidate for governor.
The chief apologized and allowed him to continue his speech. In a letter here, Mr. Roethe explained that he had secured permission beforehand from the mayor and city commission to talk on the street, but the chief did not know it and proceeded to "run him in." Mr. Roethe declared the experience made votes for him in Antigo.

GERMAN FLEET TO ATTEMPT SORTIE?

Believed by British that Submarines and Destroyers May Attack Blockaders

LONDON, Aug. 19.—While the official war bureau announces there has been desultory fighting between the British and German warships in the, it insists that "no losses are reported or claimed." It is stated that the fighting was confined to an exchange of shots at long range, between scout ships and destroyer divisions.

The bureau says: "A certain live-ness is apparent in the southern area of the North sea." This is interpreted to mean that there are indications of a possible German dash, with submarines and destroyers, against the British blockading fleet. Such action has been expected, as the Germans' hope of success on the seas is based on the belief that they will be able to pick off individually some of the British war fleet, while their own heavy ships remain under the protection of the land guns.

AVIATOR DROPS BOMBS

PARIS, Aug. 19.—The war office announces that a German monoplane, flying a French flag, passed over Luneville, in the department of Meurthe et Moselle today and dropped three bombs. They fell in the public gardens but did no particular damage, and no one was hurt. This is the fourth time German aviators have dropped bombs in Luneville.

MAN INJURED IN FALL FROM TRAIN

Takes Nap on Top of Moving Coach and Rolls Off Into the Tunnel

SPARTA, Wis., Aug. 19.—A man giving his name as W. J. Moccock, was brought into Sparta yesterday morning by the "pusher." He was picked up by the pusher crew in the tunnel where he had fallen from passenger train number 56. He was riding on top of one of the coaches and fell asleep, rolling off when the tunnel was reached. He was practically without money, having given all he had to his wife and three children who have started to Lynn, about ten miles from Boston, Mass., where they expected to join Mr. Moccock.
After an examination which showed that one hip was badly hurt, Mr. Moccock was taken to the county farm.

"SHEPHERD OF THE HILLS"

Occasionally some play strikes a note that rings out clear and true in the midst of the commonplace and impresses its auditor with the thought that it was written not for gain, not for pastime, but because some man had something to say to other men and he took this means of expression.

"The Shepherd of the Hills," Harold Bell Wright's dramatization of his novel of the same name, is this kind of a play. Mr. Wright had felt within his soul the peace and beauty of the hills and he wished to set down their meaning before him. He made a play that in plot is compelling, one that never fails in sincerity. The people who move in it are so human that the auditor will pick them out for like and dislike as if he really knows them.

The scene of the play is in the high hills of the Ozark mountains. The mists of the valleys, the glories of the sunsets, the magnificent vistas from the summits have been brought out by the wonderful ingenuity of the scenic artist and electrician's craft.

"The Shepherd of the Hills" will be the attraction at the La Crosse theater tonight.

BEACHEY SHAKES DICE WITH DEATH

RACES RUN ON TIME

There will be no long waits between races at the 1914 state fair. Supt. of Speed R. J. White, an experienced horseman and race man, will see that at every heat is put on exactly on the minute.
"There will be no tiresome delays this year," he says. "People will see racing all of the time while each day's racing program is on."

Milwaukee, Wis., July 21.—How would you like to shake dice with death across the table from you waiting to rake in the stakes, if you lose? That is practically what Lincoln Beachey, world's greatest aviator, does and will do every time he makes a flight at this year's Wisconsin State Fair. He will three times each day on Sept. 15, 16, 17 and 18.

Beachey is famed as the most skillful of all aviators and does the most remarkable things with an aeroplane, but his scientific and skillful feats pale into insignificance when compared with the stunts he accomplished through just sheer nerve and daring.

The loop and the upside down flying feats are easy for Beachey when everything goes right. But let the motor hesitate just a fraction of a second as the aeroplane is at the apex of the loop and a "tail slide" of a few feet will mean the death of the flier. Beachey is no fool. He knows far better than anyone else just what chance he is taking. But it's all a delightful game for him—this sport of risking his neck on the maelstrom, carburetor, wiring and dozens of other factors in the construction of an aeroplane.

"It is simply the dancing along life's icy brink and the attendant excitement that makes 'fe worth while,'" said Beachey recently. "Chance-taking is not a business with me. It is a delightful diversion, and no music lover ever is more charmed by listening to the inspiring strains of his favorite opera, superbly sung by a great artist, when I am charmed at the hum of my motor when I am sailing in or out of a loop and upside down flight. Some hunt lions and tigers for thrills. But I love the sky and answer its call because my whole life centers around the sensations of flying."

"A great scientist once told me that I had the bird instinct in my being. As a boy I was a great lover of birds. Their song did not appeal to me as much as their superb dips and dives and other feats of flying. I often wanted to emulate them. Now I can do things the birds cannot do. I can loop the loop and fly upside down. Birds can not."

RUSS FORD HURT MAY QUIT GAME

RUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Russell Ford, famous spitball artist and leading pitcher of the Federal league, may be permanently lost to baseball, owing to an injury to his spine. Bonsetter Reese has been unable to help Ford and an operation may be undertaken later.

The injury to Ford's spine was caused by diving into shallow water at Long Beach, Cal., in 1912. Recent pitching by Ford has irritated the old injury to such an extent that he has been unable to work through an entire game.

BRUSSELS TAKEN BY GERMANS SAYS STORY CIRCULATED IN PARIS

Point Out that Belgian Defense Plans Center

About Antwerp

Germans Making Determined Effort to Hew Through Center of Defense

PARIS, Aug. 19.—Rumors that Brussels has fallen before the German advance have been widely circulated here today. The French war office admits knowledge of the rumor. It states very positively that the report is not confirmed. Communication with the Belgian capital, however, is cut off and a general battle has been in progress since daylight yesterday.

In connection with the rumors about Brussels, the war office, in an official statement, points out that the Belgian defense plans centered around Antwerp. That is the Belgian base. It is tremendously fortified, whereas Brussels is not. The withdrawal of the Belgian seat of government to Antwerp, announced yesterday, was considered highly significant.

Interest in the situation in Belgium has distracted attention today from the French operations in Alsace-Lorraine. It is realized that the Kaiser is staking everything on his offensive movement through Belgium. The German infantry was reported as moving steadily forward, entrenching as it came, with its chief strength directed against the Belgian-allied armies' center in an effort to divide the opposition. No word is being received direct from Brussels today, but whether this is due to the censorship or the presence of the Germans is not known here.

The French advance through Alsace-Lorraine continues, the Germans giving way at every point. It is stated that the occupation of Saarburg was completed tonight without a fight, despite the fact that the Germans were strongly entrenched there with plenty of artillery. From this fact the military experts believe the German stand will be made at Strassburg which is heavily fortified and dominates the Rhine.

A brief official bulletin, issued today, confirmed the report that the Germans are falling back upon Strassburg and that French armies are operating north from the Swiss frontier, having entered Alsace near Belfort, south from Nancy, and east through all of the passes of the Vosges mountains.

The German resistance is characterized as stubborn, but the official report claims that the German losses far outnumber the French and that hundreds of prisoners are being taken.

NORTH AND EAST BELGIUM TODAY IS BATTLEFIELD

Lines Extend from North of Brussels to Luxemburg

GERMAN ATTACK CENTER IN FORCE

Evidently Aim to Pierce Allies' Line at Dinant and Flank Defenders of Brussels

ALLIES EVIDENTLY HARD PRESSED

Despite Strictness of Censorship Appears that They Are Suffering at Waterloo and Brussels

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Belgium, from Malines, north of Brussels, to Belgian Luxemburg, is today a battlefield, whereon the armies of the Kaiser and the allies are locked in the first great battle of the war.

The German attack is concentrated at Dinant, with fighting extending in force in both directions along the line, according to experts' reading of the meager dispatches allowed to get past the censor.

It is evidently the German plan to pierce the center of the allies' line at Dinant, and take the defenders of Brussels in flank and rear. Northern and eastern Belgium are today a solid battle line. The first real struggle for possession of the gateway through Belgium toward the French frontier is in progress. Fighting, starting at dawn yesterday, continues. Despite the strict censorship in the history of the world, it is evident that the allied armies are being hard pressed before Waterloo and Brussels.

Armies Have Combined
Germany's fighting machine, her wonderfully trained infantry, is being pushed forward all along the line. The army of the Meuse and the first army of the Moselle have combined. Their lines stretch far from the Dutch boundary, south into Belgium Luxemburg. One section is attacking the Namur fortifications. The fate of Liege is unknown. It is cut off from the Belgian lines. Not a word can get through regarding the facts of the forts. The Belgian war office says they still hold out. Unconfirmed reports from Brussels and from Dutch cities say that, finding it impossible longer to hold them against the fire of the heavy siege guns, the defending Belgians dynamited and destroyed them.

Brussels to Fall
That Brussels will be taken, is accepted here as practically certain.

In this connection the military expert of the Daily Express says today: "Brussels is being held out to Germany as a bait. Germany may destroy Brussels, but the deeper she strikes, the more surely does her front enter the lion's mouth. In head and on all sides, Germany will find hostile army. History is to repeat itself. A second emperor is to meet his Waterloo."

All of the London papers agree that it will be asking too much to expect the allied armies to keep the (Continued on Page 6)

(Last Word of Pope Pius X Appeal for Peace.)

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The text of the message issued from the Vatican by the pope calling on the entire world to pray for peace was received here today. It directs that "especially the clergy make public supplication so that the merciful God may, as it were, be wearied with the prayers of His children and speedily remove the evil cause of war."

The message, issued under date of August 12, follows:

"At this moment, when nearly the whole of Europe is being dragged into the vortex of a most terrible war, with present dangers and miseries and the consequences to follow, the very thought of which must strike everyone with grief and horror, we whose care is the life and welfare of so many citizens and peoples cannot but be deeply moved, and our hearts

wring with the bitterest sorrow. "At the midst of this universal confusion and peril we feel and know that both Fatherly love and apostolic ministry demand of us that we should with all earnestness turn the thoughts of Christendom thither, 'whence cometh help'—to Christ, the Prince of Peace, and the most powerful mediator between God and man.

"We charge, therefore, the Catholics of the whole world to approach the throne of grace and mercy, and more especially the clergy, whose duty furthermore, it will be to make in every parish, as their bishops shall direct, public supplication so that merciful God may, as it were, be wearied with the prayers of His children and speedily remove the evil causes of war, giving to them who rule to think the thoughts of peace, and not of affliction."

TRAIN HITS AUTO TURNS IT 'ROUND NONE IS INJURED

Machine Stops on Rails Direct in Front of Milwaukee Limited Train

John C. Krueger, 718 Berlin street and George Goff of Hokah, Minn., narrowly escaped serious injury and possible death at six o'clock last evening when their automobile was hit by Milwaukee passenger train No. 17. The machine stopped with the front truck on the tracks and was thrown around by the engine. Neither of the men were thrown out.

Krueger was going north on Berlin street. According to Mr. Krueger the crossing tender had left the crossing unguarded.

Krueger, thinking the way clear, started to cross the tracks, which at that point are about one hundred feet wide. When within but a few feet of the westbound main route, he noticed the passenger train coming toward him at a high speed. He slammed on the emergency brake, bringing his car to a stop with the front truck on the track. The huge locomotive swung the machine around lengthwise of the track, badly damaging the hood and the fender but leaving the rest of the automobile intact.

Had the machine stopped a few feet further on, or had Krueger attempted to cross the tracks ahead of the train, it is probable that both he and Goff would have been killed. The train at that point is said to run at a speed of between thirty and fifty miles an hour.

GERMAN PLAN IS TO FOOL JAPAN

BY KARL H. VON WIEGAND
THE HAGUE, Aug. 19.—The German emperor is planning to checkmate Japan. If possible her ultimatum will be made ineffective. Germany will probably voluntarily surrender to China her concessions on the Shang Tung peninsula. In turning back to the Chinese republic Kiau Chow and the German land and water leased territory the Kaiser is expected to emphasize that Germany has been an economic force in the Orient that has made for improved conditions.

While definite decision has not been reached, a high German diplomat assures the United Press Berlin offices that Germany is already negotiating with China to turn back to the oriental republic its leased territory.

There is the most intense indignation in German official circles over the position assumed by Japan. But it is realized that the ultimatum was prepared at the dictation of Great Britain and that Japan in this instance is simply the agent of England.

The fortunes of war are exemplified in the condition of Lieutenant Deceller De Moranville, son of the Belgian commander in chief. He wandered over the Dutch frontier and was captured by a Dutch patrol and will now be interned until the end of the war. Like 150 Germans, among them some well known officers, he will be held a prisoner either here or at Amsterdam.

U. S. TO BUY SHIPS FOR EXPORT TRADE

Decides to Purchase Vessels Needed to Carry Goods Now Waiting to Market

DECIDED ON BY THE PRESIDENT

Bill Will Be Drawn Asking $25,000,000 from Congress for the Purchase

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Government purchase of vessels to carry goods now waiting for market on account of the European war was agreed upon as the best means of meeting the present emergency at a conference between the president and congressional leaders today. A bill will be drawn to meet the situation. It was agreed that a bill should be introduced providing war risk insurance by the government. Twenty-five million dollars was the figure which the conferees set as the amount they will probably ask from congress for the prices of boats.

Present at the conference were: President Wilson, Senators Clarke and Simmons, Representatives Underwood and Alexander, Secretary McAdoo. The plan for purchase by the government was outlined in an official statement as follows:

"Several plans were proposed and it was finally agreed that a bill should be drawn and introduced at a very early date which should provide for the purchase of an adequate number of ships by the government, and their operation through a corporation controlled by the government, as in the case of the Panama railroad company, which now operates ships as well as the railroad itself, and which is controlled by the government."

With $29,000,000 worth of German vessels tied up in American ports for sale, the government might have this as one option, but the question did not come up for consideration.

PONTIFF UNCONSCIOUS SINCE NOON AND KEPT ALIVE WITH OXYGEN

(By Henry Wood, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

ROME, Aug. 19.—Pope Pius X died today. His holiness, after suffering a relapse earlier in the day, became unconscious at noon. At that time a priest had been sent for and the last sacraments of the church were administered. Doctors in attendance were compelled to begin the administration of oxygen to keep him alive, pending the arrival at the bedside of the officials whose presence is demanded by the rites of the church.

At 1:30 it was announced that the condition of his holiness was desperate, that his fever was increasing and his general condition was becoming very much weaker. His sisters were in constant attendance.

The physicians could do nothing and the pope sank gradually until death came.

As soon as it was recognized that the pope's condition was desperate, the vatican authorities ordered the sacrament exposed. Hurry cables were sent to all of the Roman churches directing that prayers be said for the pope.

It was stated that his sisters and a doctor were constantly at his bedside. It was later reported that Cardinal Merry Del Val had summoned back to Rome all the cardinals who recently left here.

The death of the pope was due to the war. He died practically of a broken heart.

For days after the war broke out he was gravely concerned. All the heads of the church throughout Europe were urged to work for peace. Up until hostilities actually commenced, the pope did not believe that war could come between civilized nations this late day. When he heard that Germany had declared war on Russia and realized that the conflagration had been kindled he broke down. His holiness swooned and was unconscious for several minutes. His physicians were called in and had to issue powerful restoratives. There was a slight recovery and the pope was able to be about the vatican. He spent most of the time in prayer, and in all of his devotions impressed upon every member of his household that his entire heart was set on the restoration of peace.

When the emperor of Austria asked that he send his blessing to the Austrian forces, the pope sorrowfully sent word that he would bless all of the combatants, that he considered them all his children.

Finally, he issued an appeal to every Catholic throughout the world to pray for peace. This appeal was distributed broadcast everywhere.

As the news of the terrible fighting throughout Belgium began to reach the vatican, the sorrow of the pontiff became very great. He had long spells of weeping and would sit for hours at a time murmuring the prayers for the dying.

On Sunday he was too ill to leave his bed. The doctors in attendance were not alarmed, as they hoped that his malady, which at that time was believed to be bronchial catarrh, coupled with gouty manifestations, would yield to treatment. But it did not. Throughout yesterday and today his fever increased. His stomach would not retain nourishment. Yesterday while conscious, he prayed incessantly. When the doctors gave him liquid nourishment he would shake his head in mute protest.

It was plain that he realized that he was very ill, but it was also plain to those about him that the melancholia induced by the war was having a more depressing effect on him than was his actual illness. The spirit that had animated his holiness in his past battles with the illnesses which have attacked him, was absent this time.

So today the members of the household were prepared for the end.

Pius X. (Giuseppe Sarto) was born in Riese, Italy, June 8, 1835. He was elected to the papacy by the college of cardinals, August 4, 1903, after the conclave had been in session five days, and assumed the title of Pius X.

The late pope was born in a small Venetian town of an humble peasant family. His father died March 4, 1842, and his mother, Margarita Sanson, died February 2, 1894, after a life of labor and sacrifice, entailed in rearing her family of nine children, eight of whom were living at the time Giuseppe was made pope, all in humble circumstances.

There were two brothers and seven sisters. The pope's brother is a shop keeper and postman. His sister Theresa is married to an innkeeper, named Paolin, whose "trattoria delle due spade," in Riese is only a few steps away from the modest two story house in which the pope was born.

Another sister is married to a sacristan; a third to a dealer in wines. When young Sarto became a parish priest, his mother was too humble to live with him, but his unmarried sisters resided with him at the patriarchal palace in Venice. He made his elementary studies in Castelfranco, a small town not far from Venice, and thanks to the interest shown in him by Cardinal Montecchi, patriarch of Venice, was enabled to continue his education.

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

THE PIANO MAN

BY LOUIS OTIS

Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate
Up through the airshaft came the first tinny notes of "Too Much Mustard."

Dauphine threw down her pen in exasperation and pressed her hands to her ears. Always, when she was up to her eyes in her evening's work, gathered such notes she had accumulated through the day, the piano on the floor below would begin. The weather being warm and all the windows open, every one in the tenement got the benefit of the serenade.

"It's maddening," she exclaimed desperately. "The stuff I've turned in since that public nuisance has started will soon lose me my job. It's simply rank. But I can't think with that racket going on."

The clock struck 9. Dauphine picked up her pen and went at it again, stopping an instant to close the window. Her copy must be at the office by 10, and she had no time to lose.

The closed window partly shut out the sound, but it also shut out the air. Dauphine typewrote her copy in an atmosphere that would have boiled an egg.

She slipped on her hat, tucked the precious manuscript into her bag and went out into the hall. Up the stairway came the dum, dum, dum, de dum of the awful tune.

"I guess there is only one way left. That is to do my writing at the office in the evenings with the boys. But it seems too bad to be chased out of my little flat that I am doing without meals to pay rent for. I won't go to a boarding house—never!"

She delivered her copy and was half way down stairs to the street when a young man passed her, going up. She recognized the dejected, tired-out air, and the shabby clothes of a young man she had encountered in the office two nights before. "Jack Stoddard," she had heard him introduce himself to Hastings, the city editor. Hastings had dismissed him with his usual brisk "Nothing doing," scarcely glancing at the applicant, while the office looked on with an unsympathetic grin. All but Dauphine, whose heart ached for the young man so evidently in hard luck. It had been such a short time since she herself had been going the rounds hunting for work, that she had been unable to forget the weeks of dreadful discouragement.

He whipped off his hat and took her hand gracefully. She was surprised at the change in him. The hopelessness seemed to drop from his face like a mask at the friendliness of her tone, leaving him a different man.

"Going to see Mr. Hastings again?" she asked brightly, and added encouragingly: "Go on up. Maxwell's just brought in something extra good, and Mr. Hastings will be coming out of the hand for the next hour. Good luck!"

He looked after her as she ran lightly down the stairs. Hope—about gone—had suddenly reappeared a thousand candlepower strong.

It was a cheery-looking, stalwart young fellow who presented himself at Hastings' desk the next minute with, "If you want something extra good, Mr. Hastings, you'd better take me now. I'm sure to be snapped up soon." And instead of kicking him downstairs, the editor laughed and asked him to sit down.

The music had stopped when Dauphine returned to the tenement. The window responsible for the offending music was dark when she leaned out to have a look. "Gone to bed!" she commented with satisfaction. Then on her typewriter she rattled off a letter of complaint to the man with the piano. She knew it was a man, because when she had leaned out one time she had seen his hands just below the edge of the window shade, as they pounded on the keys.

The note ran in part, "Will you kindly help one who is trying to earn a livelihood and who needs quietness in the evening, by closing your window, or at least putting on the soft pedal and moving the piano to the far wall? Changing the tune occasionally would help a little."

"Very truly yours, 'A Sufferer.'"

She stuck the note into an envelope, ran down stairs and slipped it under the offender's door.

The next day she found an envelope addressed, "A Sufferer," pinned to the entrance wall. No one was in sight. Surprised and amused she took it down, and opened it in her room.

"Dear Sufferer," it ran, "Isn't it awful? I hate it more than anybody. But they won't have anything else. If I move the piano they can't hear, and if I change the tune they howl. It means $1 a night, you see, and just now that's about as big as the harvest moon. When the music quits you'll know I've landed a job. Penitently yours, The Offender."

"P. S.—I can play decent stuff." Dauphine laughed. "Poor fellow! I suppose 'they' means some of the numerous one-steppers in the building. He is earning his bread and butter by drumming that awful tune."

A week passed—a hard week or hot weather and uphill work—gleaning crumbs of information about the doings in local merchantdom that was Dauphine's probation to higher things. The evenings were nightmares of ragtime, but she made no further complaint.

G. J. Wright Takes Charge of Tribune's Advertising Department Succeeding E. F. Hughes

G. J. Wright, Milwaukee, formerly advertising and publicity man of the Milwaukee chamber of commerce, has taken charge of the advertising department of The Tribune, succeeding Edward F. Hughes, who resigned recently.

The Tribune's new ad man brings to the service of La Crosse business men a wide metropolitan experience in advertising. He has been connected with the Chicago Record-Herald, the Minneapolis Tribune, the Milwaukee Journal and the Grand Forks Times-Herald.

Mr. Wright has a reputation in newspaper circles as a creator of powerful and attractive advertising. "Jack," as he is known to his intimates, in addition to his reputation as a man with ideas, has an engaging personality which has won him a legion of friends.

GALESVILLE FAIR OPENS ON TUESDAY

Plans Now Complete for Fifty-sixth Fair of Trempealeau County Association

GALESVILLE, Wis., Aug. 19.—Trempealeau County fair takes place at Galesville next week, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, August 25 to 27. This is the fifty-sixth annual county fair which has been held here. It was organized in 1859. Only a few of the old settlers are still living who attended and helped organize the first fair, among them being Judge G. Y. Freeman, Captain Alex A. Arnold, Stark Buttman and Thomas Hunter, Sr., all of them past 80 years of age.

It was a question a few years ago whether the County Fair association could continue to exist. But of late years there has been a revival of interest in the institution. The officers of the present year are: President, G. D. Arnold; secretary, B. W. Davis; vice president, B. A. Gipple; assistant secretary, A. T. Twesme; treasurer, J. A. Kellman.

In conformity with other county fairs the program includes horse racing and two ball games. As with county fairs in general, the original agricultural side of the exhibition is more or less lost sight of. The fair offers an opportunity to renew old acquaintances and the making of new ones.

There will, however, be a new feature, in the form of a state farm exhibit. This will occupy a tent 60x100 feet. The profitable and unprofitable farm animal demonstration will take place in the tent which will occupy a prominent place on the grounds. This demonstration is given by the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association in order to prove that it does not pay to waste money and feed on scrub animals. The exhibit will contain the following animals, bought in the open market at prevailing market prices, representing practical daily conditions: A choice steer and a scrub steer; three choice large type hogs and the same number of common light hogs; three choice lambs (untrimmed); three good mutton sheep and the same number of poor mutton sheep; one profitable grade dairy cow and one unprofitable scrub cow; and a horse, representing the ideal toward which farmers should direct their breeding operations.

Premiums have been increased to attract breeders throughout the state. There will be some choice pure bred animals exhibited not only from Trempealeau county but from the neighboring counties as well.

This is a campaign year and visitors at the fair will have the privilege of hearing several candidates for office. It is expected that the following will make addresses: Merlin Hull, Emanuel Philipp and Judge J. C. Karel, candidates for governor; Thomas Morris, candidate for the United States senate. It is the intention also to have a noted woman's suffrage speaker.

The management of the Trempealeau County fair makes the following announcement: "The fair association will have a magistrate in waiting at the fair on Wednesday, August 26 and Thursday, August 27. On these days two couples will be married and to each bride a purse of $25.00 in gold will be awarded. The only conditions are that the first two applicants will be accepted. Wedding licenses must be shown the secretary of the fair by August 25. The knots will be tied on a platform opposite the grand stand."

La Crosse and Winona usually send large delegations to the fair at Galesville and it is expected that this year will be no exception. The popularity of the automobile will very materially swell the number of visitors from the adjoining villages and towns.

At this bit of sympathy the lump did get itself swallowed, and the tears ran down the poor little boy's face.

"Oh, Babs, Babs," he sobbed, rocking back and forth, "I've lost my day! I've lost my day! I wish I were dead, Babs; I do, I do!"

Licked the Little Boy's Face.

"I'll tell you the tale of a little lost day, kiddies," said daddy.

"Wasn't it ever found?" asked Evelyn.

"No," said daddy, "and the little boy who lost it felt very bad every time he thought about it. But thinking about it and being sorry didn't bring it back."

"Every morning when this little boy got back from the Land of Nod there was a new day all ready for him to play and work with—a new day, all full of light to whisper to him that if he would do this and do that he would be both happy and useful. And for some time the little boy made the most of his days and enjoyed their company very much. He worked hard and played hard and enjoyed every day so much that he would regret it being gone and looked forward with all the more enjoyment to the next."

"One day—it was just the start of vacation, and he just squeezed through into the next higher grade—his parents said to him: 'We will take you and the other children on a picnic to the lake tomorrow. We will start early, and you must get up when you're called.' He was so pleased, and he promised that he would do just as he was told."

"Well, children, he got up after a long while and dressed—oh, so fast!—and he hurried into his clothes and downstairs."

"But there wasn't any one there. They had all gone to the picnic. He didn't want to cry because it wasn't manly. He didn't want to play because he didn't, and he couldn't eat because there was a big lump in his throat that he couldn't swallow, and there was his part of the picnic lunch on the dining room table, too—pinkie frosted cake and all."

"He was sitting upon the doorstep leading into the woodshed, trying just as hard as he could to swallow that lump, when little Babs, his doggie, crept into his arms, snuggled down and licked the little boy's face with her pink furry tongue."

"At this bit of sympathy the lump did get itself swallowed, and the tears ran down the poor little boy's face."

"Oh, Babs, Babs," he sobbed, rocking back and forth, "I've lost my day! I've lost my day! I wish I were dead, Babs; I do, I do!"

DAHL THE HOPE OF
PROGRESSIVE CAUSE

In this state there is going forward
a sinister campaign of all reactionary forces to win back control
of the state government which they
held to their own profit and use
through many years of abuses until
it was wrested from them and restored to the people by Robert M.
La Follette.

In this fight of privilege the attack is centered upon the republican
nomination for the governorship.
Massed on this wing are all the
forces of the "old guard." Coming
swiftly to reinforce the "old guard"
is the big business organization of Milwaukee, the "M. & M.", that has
been supporting Karel, but which
now has deserted him to fling its
cohort into the midst of the single,
desperate effort to pierce the progressive line.

An army centers its attack upon
the weakest point in the opposing
array. Why have the stalwarts centered upon the governorship as that
weakest point?

Because there is no strong progressive to oppose them?

No!

Because at this point the progressive forces are divided in the support of several good candidates;
they are covering too much territory; their lines are too drawn out.

The stalwarts believe that by concentrating their numbers they can
break through the long line of de-

force in which a vastly superior
force is weakened by being strung
out too far.

To break this attack a positive
and overwhelming counter attack is possible. Every tactician knows it.

CONCENTRATE TO MEET IT.

Massed at the danger point, the
progressive forces can render the Philipp assault a pitiable futility;
they can overwhelm it by force of
numbers until its absurdity will rival
the Fairchild fiasco.

It is time NOW for the progres-
sives to mass their total strength
and by force of numbers seize the
republican nomination for governor.

To do so they must center upon one
strong man.

And who is the strong man of the
hour?

Dahl!

Andrew H. Dahl, of Westby.

This statement comes from The
Tribune as a concession.

Many weeks ago this paper declared that W. H. Hatton, of New London, was the progressive who
should bear the republican shield. It
knew him as clean, able, reliable; it
knew he combined with these the quality of statesmanship. It felt, and
still feels, that he would be a great
governor.

Firm in that belief, we took the
field for him, hoping that by an active campaign he would unite behind him the progressive support.

In that he failed. There was something lacking—"punch," let us say—
in his campaign. He made slow and doubtful headway. There was no
crystallization for him. The impression of weak political generalship,
created in his unsuccessful campaign
for the senate six years ago, was confirmed. Hesitancy and lack of confidence in his ability to win
spread among the progressives, in spite of a state-wide conviction as
to his fitness.

This was the condition when Andrew H. Dahl entered the race. Dahl,
too, was known as a true blue progressive. He had a splendid record
of public service as a legislator and
as state treasurer. He knew how to conduct a campaign. He went into it
with whirlwind intensity. Within ten days his was the most advanced and
widely discussed candidacy for governor of them all.

From that time Mr. Dahl's campaign progressed with steady stride.
Day by day there have come new
evidences of its overshadowing
strength. Many leaders had been committed, but the rank and file fell
in behind him. One by one strong lieutenants came over to him. The
big, thinking machine of the pro-
gressives saw his progress, and
joined the movement. Today, he is far in the lead of other progressive
candidates for governor.

Men are but instruments in the progressive movement. The true progressive yields no allegiance to any
individual excepting as he believes
that allegiance serves the progressive cause. It was to serve that cause
that we attempted to center the La
Follette strength behind Mr. Hatton.
It is to serve that cause that today,
yielding to the inevitable logic of
current events and with no diminu-
tion of respect and high regard for
Mr. Hatton, we take our place in the Dahl column and thus come face to
face with the concentrated reaction-
ary forces of Emanuel Philipp.

The army of the Dollar shall not
break through Humanity's defenses
to trample on men and women and
little children.

A BRUTAL PRACTICE

Laying mines to protect ports
from invasion by hostile warships is
one thing, laying mines in the high
seas in the track of passenger and
freight shipping is quite another. If
it be true, as has been asserted, that
international war rules do not forbid
the latter atrocity it must be admitted that civilization has failed to
root out the primitive barbarity of
the peoples. The thing is a shame to
the nations.

Old Adam was the lucky guy,
If history is true;
He did not fret like you and I
When humid days were due.
He had the finest summer suit
This world has ever seen;
As cool as any robe de nuit,
The fig leaf's what I mean,
No Palm Beach outfit did he buy
Nor white silk socks and such,
And then sit round and bake and
fry

And rail at weather much.
He wore no hot suspenders and
No clinging B. V. D.s.
That leaf of his was simply grand.
He never missed a breeze.
Ah! would old Adam's day return,
Back, back to the creation
When people didn't toast and burn
And boil in perspiration.
The women have returned, almost,
But man, the poor old duffer,
Has got to sit around and roast
In many clothes, and suffer.

The Bath

George C. Boldt, the doyen of the hotel keeping world, said in New York:

"It is now the excellent fashion—
and this fashion will be permanent—
to build hotels with a bath for every bedroom."

"I remember the time—of course,
I was then very young—when baths
were not so necessary. In fact, I once
overheard a little boy say to his
father in a hotel corridor:
"Pa, what are Knights of the Bath?"

"Why, Saturday nights, of course," the father replied.

"Another time we put a rich old
lady from the country—this, too, was
ages ago—in our best room, a room
with a bath."

"The room clerk asked her in the morning how she had slept. She hid
a yawn behind her hand and answered:

"The bed was good, and I'd have
slept fine, young man, only I was afraid somebody would be wanting
a bath, and the idea of strangers
passing back and forth through my
room worried me so I just couldn't
snatch a wink."

Biblical Lesson

The Sunday school teacher was
making a review of the lessons.

"Who was the wisest man, James?"

"Solomon."

"That's right. Now, Frank, who

"Jonah?"

"Wrong; but what reason have
you for believing Jonah was the
strongest man?"

"Cause the whale couldn't hold
him after it got him down."—National Monthly.

His Mistake

The apoclectic little man pounded the counter with his apoclectic little
fist.

"I never dealt here before and I'll
never deal here again!" he shouted.
"The management here is rotten.
You have nothing, nothing! I'll try
once more. Have you any toma-
toes?"

"No, sir; sorry, sir," replied the
clerk.

"What? Not even in cans?"

Headache and Dizziness

Headache is never a disease. It is always a symptom. Applications,
powders and tablets that drug the
headache into quietude are treating
the symptoms, not the disease, always a useless proceeding and often
harmful.

When headache is associated with
some dizziness it is usually the result of nervous exhaustion and will
continue as long as the person who is
overworked allows the debility to continue. It rapidly disappears when
rest and the proper tonic is taken.

Nervous exhaustion, the cause of
such headaches and dizziness, results
from a strain on the nerves, results
which the rebuilding work of the blood is unable to keep pace. The best
tonic for such a condition is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills build
up the blood and strengthen the nerves. With this treatment, unless
the overwork, worry, or whatever
has caused the nervous breakdown,
is persisted in, the headaches, dizziness, nervousness and irritability
that characterize neurasthenia rapidly disappear.

The Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., will send
free on request a helpful little book
disorders. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills
are obtainable at any drug store.

"Not a potato in the place," said
the clerk apologetically.

"Ye gods! Well, I'll give you one

"Not a grain, sir. Sorry, sir."

Resourceful Woman

One day Jones lost a button from
his serge coat, and on leaving for
the office on the following morning
repair the damage during the day.
Little birdie, of course, sweetly promised.

"Where are you, Harry!" called
the young wife on hearing him ram-
bling around the house that evening.

"What are you looking for?"

"I am looking for my blue serge
coat," answered Harry. "Did you
sew on that button?"

"No, dear," came the startling rejoinder of wife. "I couldn't find
hole."—Kansas City Star.

Old Favorite

A teacher was questioning a class
of boys on birds. Having received
correct answers about feathers, bill,
feet and wings, he put the question:
"What is it a bird can do that I am
unable to do?"

"Fly," was the answer he hoped
to get. For several moments the
boys thought. At last one held up
his hand.

"Well, my lad, what is it?"

"Lay an egg, sir," said the boy.—

Using Judgment

In a deserted kindergarten room
of a settlement a little girl was
thumping the piano to her heart's
content.

A resident looked in at the door
and smiled. "Go right on, Catharine," she said, "if you're sure your
hands are quite clean."

"O, that's all right, Miss Emily,"
was the answer. "I'm being very careful; I'm just playing on the
black keys."

Twilight had faded to starlight
and the mountain range stood blackly defined against the glittering
stars. It was easy to find his way,
for on the level sands there were no
impediments, and when the mountain was reached, a low divide offered him easy passage up the as-
cent. For the most part the slopes
were gradual and in steeper places,
ledges of granite, somewhat like
giant stairs, assisted him to the highest ridge. From this vantage-
point he could see the level plain
stretching away on the further side;
he could count the ridges running
parallel to the one on which he had
paused, and note the troughs between, which never descended to the
level ground to deserve the name of
valleys. Looking down upon this tortured mass of granite, he seemed
gazing over a petrified sea that, in
the fury of a storm, had been caught
at the highest dashing of its waves,
and fixed in threatening motion
which throughout the ages would
remain as calm and secure as the
level waste that stretched from the
abrupt walls in every direction.

a moment, lest his figure be outlined
against the night for the keen gaze
of some hidden foe. Steadying the
leg with one hand and holding his
gun alert, he descended into the first
trough and climbed to the next ridge,
meaning to traverse the mile of
broken surface, thus setting a granite wall between him and the tell-tale wagon. The second ridge was not so high as the outer wall, and
he passed here, feeling more secure.

The ground was fairly level for perhaps fifty yards before its descent
to the next rolling depression where
the shadows lay in unrelieved gloom.

On the crest, about him, the dim
light defined broken boulders and
great blocks of granite in grotesque
forms, some suggesting fantastic
monsters, others, in sharp-cut or
rounded forms seemingly dressed by Cyclopean chisels.

The fugitive was not interested in
the dimly defined shapes about him;
his attention had been attracted by
a crevice in the smooth rock ledge
at his feet. This ledge, barren of
vegetation, and as level as a slab of
rough marble, showed a long black
line like a crack in a stone pavement. At the man's feet the crevice
was perhaps two feet wide, but as it
stretched toward the west it nar-
rowed gradually, and disappeared
under a mass of disorganized stones,
as a mere slit in the surface.

Presently he set the keg and the
tarpaulin-bag on the ground, not to
rest his shoulders, but in order to
sink on his knees beside the crevice.

He put his face down over it, listening, peering, but making no discovery. Then he unwound the lariar from
about his waist, tied it to the rope
that had been a halter, and having
fastened a stone to one end, lowered
it into the black space. The length
of the lariar slipped through his
fingers and the rope was following
when suddenly the rock found lodg-
ment at the bottom. On making this
discovery he drew up the lariar,
opened the cloth containing the
food, and began to eat rapidly and
with evident excitement. He did not fail to watch on all sides as he enjoyed his long delayed meal, and
while he ate and thus watched, he
thought rapidly. When the first
cravings of appetite were partly satisfied, he left his baker's bread and
bacon on a stone, tied up the rest of
the food in its cloth, rolled this in
the tarpaulin, and lowered it by
means of the lariar into the crevice.
Then, having tied the end of the
rope to the gun-barrel, he placed the
gun across the crevice and swung
himself down into the gloom.

The walls of the crevice were so
close together that he was able to
steady his knees against them, but
as he neared the bottom they widen-
ed perceptibly. His first act on setting foot to the stone flooring was
to open the tarpaulin, draw forth a
candle and a box of matches, and
strike a light. The chamber of granite in which he stood was indeed
narrow, but full of interest and romance. The floor was about the
same width in all its length, wide
enough for Willock, tall as he was,
to stretch across the passage. It extended perhaps a hundred feet into
the heart of the rock, showing the

same smooth walls on either side.
The ceiling, however, was varied, as
the outward examination had promised. Overhead the stars were seen
at ease through the two feet of space
at the top; but as he carried his
candle forward, this opening decreased, to be succeeded presently
by a roof, at first of jumbled stones
crushed together by outward weight,
then of a smooth red surface ex-
tending to the end.

The floor was the same everywhere save at its extremities. At the point of Willock's descent, it dipped
away in a narrow line that would
not have admitted a man's body. At
the other end, where he now stood,
it suddenly gave way to empty space.
It came to an end so abruptly that
there was no means of discovering
how deep was the narrow abyss beyond. Possibly it descended a sheer
three hundred feet, the depth of the
ridge at that place. On the smooth
floor which melted into nothingness
with such sinister and startling sud-
denness, the candlelight revealed the
skeleton of a man lying at the margin of the unknown depths. Mingled
with the bones that had fallen apart
with the passing of centuries, was a
drawn sword of blackened hilt and rusted blade—a sword of old Spanish
make—and in the dust of a rotted
purse lay a small heap of gold coins
of strange design.

"Well, pard," said Brick Willock
grimly, "you come here first and much obliged to you. You've told me
two things: that once in here, no
getting out—unless you bring along
your ladder; and what's better still,
nobody has been here since you
come, or that wouldn't be my money!

And now having told me all you got
to say, my cavalier, I guess we'd better part." He raked the bones into a heap, and dashed them into the

black gulf. He did not hear them
when they struck bottom, and the
sinister silence gave him an odd
thrill. He shook his head, "If I ever
roll out of bed here," he said, "me
and you will spend the rest of the
time together, pardner."

He did not linger for idle speculation, but drew himself up his dan-
gling rope, and in a short time was
once more outside the place of refuge. Always on the lookout for possible watchers, he snatched up the
bread and meat, and ate as he has-
tened over the outer ridge and down
the rugged side toward the wagon.

Here he filled a box with canned provisions and a side of bacon, and on
top of this he secured a sack of
flour. It made a heavy burden, but
his long sleep had restored him to
his wonted strength, and he could
not be sure but this trip to the
wagon would be his last. With some difficulty he hoisted the box to his
herculean shoulder, and grasping a spade and an ax in his disengaged hand, toiled upward to his asylum.

When the crevice in the mountaintop was reached, he threw the contents of the box down into the tarpaulin which he had spread out to receive it, and having broken up the box with the ax, cast the boards
down that they might fall to one side of the provisions. This done, he returned to the wagon, from above incisable, but which, when he stood on the plain, loomed dim and shapeless against the night.

Nelsons and Naps in Pitchers' Battle on North Side Hold the Score at 3 to 3

In what was to have been the deciding game for the championship of the north side, the Nelsons and the Naps battled, last night to a 3 and 3 tie in indoor baseball.

The Naps were the first to score, R. Knutson counting in the second frame on a two bagger and a hit by Downey, Lafser and McGuire scored for the Nelsons in the fourth. Carroll came back for the Naps and pushed over a run tying the count. Haefner and Downey scored in the fifth for the respective teams, leaving the game a 3 to 3 tie.

The game was a pitchers' battle throughout, Knutson allowing three hits and Casperson four. Honors on strikeouts were even.

The tie will be played off Friday evening at 7 o'clock.

In the Midget league the Japers trounced the Naps 6 to 4 while the Pirates were beating the Stars by a 1 to 0 count, the closest score of the season.

The Danger of Imitations.

AN OHIO druggist writes to "The Practical Druggist," a prominent New York Drug Journal, as follows: "Please furnish formula for Castoria. All the formulas I have worked with are either ineffective or disagreeable to administer."

To this "The Practical Druggist" replies: "We do not supply formulas for proprietary articles. We couldn't if we wanted to. Your experience with imitative formulas is not surprising, but just what is to be expected. When Castoria is wanted, why not supply the genuine. If you make a substitute, it is not fair or right to label it Castoria. We can give you all sorts of laxative preparations for children, but not Castoria, and we think a mother who asks for Castoria would not feel kindly toward you if you gave her your own product under such a name."

No mother with a spark of affection for her child will overlook the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher when buying Castoria.

DO'S FOR HUNTERS

Don't hunt between sunset and sunrise.
Don't kill harmless birds.
Don't hunt deer with dogs.
Don't fish with more than one line.
Don't destroy a bird's nest.
Don't place or retrieve game in cold storage.
Don't wantonly destroy or waste game birds, animals or fish.
Don't carry guns while training dogs in off season.
Don't use the hunting license of another. — State Game Laws.

Thirty-two hunting licenses had been issued by County Clerk Bert A. Jolivette today. One had been issued to a woman, Mrs. F. C. Spang, 400 North Sixth street.

Preparations are being made by the hunters of La Crosse for what is expected to be one of the best hunting seasons for some time.

The official season for duck, mudhen, rail or rice hen, wild goose or brant, woodchuck, plover and snipe, opens September 7.

No Chicken Hunt Here

Although there is no open season for prairie chicken in La Crosse county, many will leave the county in search of them. Their haunts may be invaded from September 7 until October 1. Grouse is in the same category.

The season for hunting the rabbit, grey fox or black squirrel does not open until October 10.

Trapping the muskrat is prohibited until October 15, and a still later date is held for the trapping of mink, fisher and martin, the choicer fur bearing animals. They cannot be taken until November 15.

Mongolian, Chinese or English pheasants, swan, quail, harmless birds, woodcock or cranes cannot be shot in Wisconsin.

The deer season, as usual, is from November 11 to December 1. Only one deer may be taken.

REPUDIATES NOTES ON HUERTA BONDS

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 19.—At the order of Gen. Carranza, the issuance of about $10,000,000 in government notes now in circulation will be repudiated tomorrow. The notes were issued by former Provisional President Carranza on the $60,000,000 ten-year gold bonds of the Huerta administration, but will be repudiated in compliance with the order of Carranza refusing to recognize acts of Gen. Huerta.

Gen. Carranza is still at Arzacatopolis, but has announced his cabinet as follows: Ysidro Fabela, minister of foreign affairs; Eliodoro Arcedondo, minister of interior; Eduardo Hay, minister of finance; Ynacio Bolas, minister of communications; Dr. Miguel Silva, minister of public instruction.

CHINESE DISARM GERMAN GUNBOAT

ROME, Aug. 19.—A cablegram received here today from Nankin, China, says the Chinese authorities have disarmed the German gunboat Vaterland.

It is likely that the above message refers to the voluntary internment of some of the small German gunboats in the far east. They were laid up for the war, and the breech-blocks of their guns removed, in accordance with the neutrality requirements. The Vaterland is a small river gunboat, 154 feet long, and carried a crew of only forty-five.

Drama Followed the Dance.

In ancient times the dance was the first mode of entertainment; then came the drama, derived from a Greek word, meaning "to act." In Greece it was given in the open or in buildings, known as theaters, after a Greek word meaning "to see."

BAKING 16,000 LOAVES FOR GERMAN ARMY

The greatest problem to be solved in time of war is not so much that of the movements of the troops but how to feed them. The great masses of soldiers forming the modern armies need an enormous amount of food and the commissary has to be in very capable hands. Reports from Belgium say that the German prisoners around Liege were starving on account of the failure of their supply train to follow the main army. Every army has a section of bake ovens mounted on trucks in which the bread is baked. The Germans invading Belgium need 16,000 loaves a day and are said to eat less bread than the French.

GRAIN EXPORTS TO EUROPE START

Shipments This Week to Exceed Last Week's Figures by Million Bushels

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Exportation of grain from the United States is again getting under way and shipments for the present week are expected to exceed those of last week by more than a million bushels. With banks of New York, Boston, Chicago and other cities buying grain bills on executed contracts more freely, the situation was greatly improved. Owing to the lack of ships, exporters may not be able to fulfill all contract obligations, but it is believed most of them will be met. Reports from Galveston state that 14,000,000 bushels of wheat will be shipped from there for England this week. Boston is to ship 60,000 bushels. From New York 500,000 bushels will be shipped within the next few days, and all ships sailing for British ports later will carry more.

U. S. INSPECTION OF GRAIN COMING

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Federal inspection of grain, so crushingly defeated by the senate last winter, may come as the result of the present agitation by the cotton state senators and representatives for federal licensing and inspection of cotton warehouses. This was made evident today when the proposal of Senator McCumber, leader of the grain inspection advocates, that the same benefits should be extended to grain as to cotton, was acceded to by Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia, on the part of the cotton senators.

"Whys" of European War Moves Explained By Military Expert

BY J. W. T. MASON
(Former European Manager of the United Press.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—11 a. m.—The key to Germany's battle plan in the Belgian plains is evident from the seriousness of the fighting at Dinant, described as the first real battle of the war, and the general German movement toward Waver and Gembloux. The German objective is to get between the allied forces in Belgium and the French frontier, so that in case of defeat, the allies can be driven northward into Antwerp and locked up for the rest of the war.

The principal detail of this movement is the Dinant attack. Dinant marks the chief crossing of the Meuse in the twenty miles that separate the Belgian fortress of Namur from the French border fortress of Givet.

If the Germans can force a crossing of the Meuse at Dinant, their way will be northwest over the Samere river. Once across the second stream, their strategy will have gained what may be a vitally important advantage. The troops at Waver and Gembloux can then swing round a parallel with the Samere, and the enveloping movement will be complete. The allies must prevent this southern and southwestern attack at all costs. The strategic struggle for position, in all probability, is what now is occurring in Belgium.

Obscurity concerning the objective of the French advance into Alsace-Lorraine is beginning to clear. It seems evident that the French general staff is attempting to drive the Germans out of the lost provinces into Strassburg and turn Strassburg into a German Sedan.

The retreat of the Germans from Saarburg, is an important success for the French plans. It shows an enveloping movement is succeeding, advancing eastward in crescent formation from Abrisweiler to Chateau Salins. The retreat from Saarburg, the most important garrison center between Metz and Strassburg, indicates great strength of the French force. The threatening position of Metz, from which might come a flank and rear attack, also suggests the French have a very large body of troops in the district.

By co-ordinating this southeastern enveloping movement with the sweeping advance northward from Mulhausen, the French may succeed in bottling up an important part of the German army in Strassburg.

Reports of the Alsace-Lorraine movements are issued by the French war department as coming from General Joffre himself, the commander in chief.

The fact that the eastern plan of campaign is under the direct supervision of General Joffre, suggests that while the world has its attention fixed on Belgium, the first news of supreme importance may come from the lost provinces in the east.

Germans out of Brussels. They point out that the German forces engaged total more than 400,000, and that with reserves packed in the rear, the Kaiser has a total of close to 750,000 men available for this first offensive operation. But they insist that it will be impossible for the Germans to reach the Belgian-French boundary.

That the British troops probably are engaged in the present fighting is believed likely. The censor refuses to permit any word of their position to be sent. Earl Kitchener's apparent interest in the reports of the Belgian fighting is considered highly significant.

Reports that Brussels had already been taken by the Germans were circulated today. They were met with an emphatic denial from the Belgian legation.

Grows to General Battle
BRUSSELS, Aug. 19.—A general engagement is in progress all along the entire Belgian front. The fighting, which commenced last night, increased in severity early today and has now assumed the proportions of a general battle. It is believed here that the German movement is directed against this city and that the combined armies of the Meuse and the first army of the Moselle is now endeavoring to force the allied center and divide the defending army. The roar of the guns can be distinctly heard in this city.

The war office is without word from the Liege fortresses. The censorship on news from the front is absolute. It is known that a German attack on the outposts at Louvain has been in progress since early yesterday and that another engagement is in progress south of Brussels. The Belgian line is believed to be between Brussels and Antwerp with headquarters at Malines. The allied army is fronting the enemy near Waterloo.

Advance Slowly
The German advance is slow as every point because of the destructive artillery opposition encountered. The German armies of the Meuse and the first army of the Moselle have effected a junction.

RELATIVES WHO SURVIVE POPE

The immediate surviving members of Pope Pius' family are as follows:
Angelo Sarto, born March 26, 1836; married to Eleonora Silliprandi. Is a village postmaster. Their two daughters now married are Clara Marsilli and Adelaide Magnani.

Teresa, born January 28, 1840; married to B. B. Parolin, who is a monsignor in the Catholic church.
Marco, born in 1842, and for the past twenty years has lived near or with her brother to attend his wants.

Anna, born April 3, 1848, who also has lived the past twenty years with her sister Marco, and the other sister, Rosa, who died in February, 1913, devoting their entire lives to their brother.

Antonia, born January 26, 1844, wife of Francisco Del Bel.
Lucia, born May 26, 1846, wife of Luigi Boschini, a village sacristan.

ROSE STREET MEN WANT INJUNCTION TO STOP VIADUCT

Damages Not Assessed Say Lot Owners Whose Property Has Been Taken Over

ATTORNEYS ARE RETAINED

Raising of Grades and the Widening of Roadway Are Chief Among Grievances

Injunction proceedings against the city of La Crosse, the C. M. & St. P. railway and the W. R. L. and P. Co., to prevent the completion of the new Rose street viaduct over the Milwaukee tracks are threatened by Rose street residents who claim damages because of the reconstructed viaduct.

Notices of the proposed suit will be served on the proper department heads shortly, by Fred H. Hartwell, retained by the property owners. Mr. Hartwell has been deferring action awaiting the return of City Attorney Higbee, who it is said will be back Monday.

It is the contention of the plaintiffs that grades on Rose street have been raised by the construction of the approaches to the new viaduct and that in widening the street and viaduct encroachments have been made on their lots, for which no appraisements of damages have been made by the city.

No Damages Assessed
The plaintiffs assert that no assessments of benefits or damages were made before the work was commenced, nor were they recompensed when the original viaduct was erected some years ago.

Under the decision of the railway commission the viaduct is to be erected under the superintendence of the city engineering department. The city of La Crosse must pay a fourth of the cost, the street railway company another fourth and the balance must be paid by the railroad.

HOLDUP SUSPECTS GET WRONG MAN IN GEORGE TULUMES

Strangers with Restaurant for Sale Cheap Are Landed in City Jail

When two strangers entered the shoe shining stand of George Tulumes and offered to sell him a paying restaurant business in North La Crosse for $30 cash, Tulumes was suspicious, but when one of them after asking him to show his money wanted him to walk to the North side he saw visions of a hold up plot.

As a result, Sam Iellio, Italian, Chicago, and James Massaran, Greek, St. Paul, are held at Central police station today while their records are being investigated.

Sam Iellio, the spokesman, told Tulumes yesterday afternoon of his restaurant bargain, declaring he alone could make the deal, but Tulumes must have the $30 in spot cash. Tulumes had it. He became suspicious however and made an engagement with the restaurant agent to meet him at eight o'clock last night. In the meanwhile the police were notified.

When Iellio and his companion came, they again asked the prospective buyer if he had the $30. Convinced of this they then offered to show him the restaurant. When they demurred at taking a street car for the North side, they were arrested as they emerged from the shining stand.

TEACH TEACHERS SAY CHURCHMEN; CONVENTION ENDS

Retalizing the importance of the Sunday school as the backbone of the church and expressing a feeling that the teacher in the Sunday school should be better equipped to cope with the pupils in her charge, Rev. E. Vornholt, pastor of St. John's Reformed church, Fourth and Market streets, and others urged more training for Sunday school teachers, at the business meeting of the second annual convention of the Minnesota classes today.

Today's business meeting wound up the sessions of the convention. Fifty delegates, from Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Iowa have been in attendance. The convention opened yesterday.

Rev. E. J. Krampe, Sheboygan Falls, Wis., addressed the convention yesterday on "The Word of God, the Basis of All Religious Knowledge." Rev. P. Kluge, St. Paul, Rev. Edwin H. Vornholt, Waukon, Iowa, and Rev. H. Huesser, Alma, Wis., took part in the important discussions of this morning's program.

At the close of the business session this afternoon the fifty delegates and several members of the church congregation were given a ride about the city, which was concluded in picnic at Myrick park. Fully one hundred and fifty attended.

POPE PIUS DIES AT VATICAN AFTER ILLNESS OF YEARS

years later, he was summoned to Rome, to elect a successor to the papal throne, made vacant by Leo's death, and was chosen as that successor.

Devoid of Ambition
Pius X was a striking example of the bestowal of the highest dignity in the Roman Catholic church upon one of the lowliest origin, utterly void of ambition, whose career had been marked only by the sincerest piety and indomitable zeal in the practice of his ecclesiastical profession. His elevation was an apotheosis of the parish priest.

There could be no more marked contrast than that presented by this pope and the pope he succeeded, Leo XIII was of aristocratic birth, a scholar, a diplomat. Pius X had the lowly peasant spirit which characterizes his whole family. He deprecated his elevation to the bishopric of Mantua and was prostrated by his election to the papacy, accepting it only through sense of duty.

Although speaking and knowing his own language with classical finish, he was familiar with no other except for a slight knowledge of French and German.

Of Wonderful Charity
But he was a man of wonderful charity, with a gift for organizing, and full of active zeal, notably in preaching. He insisted upon this strongly with his priests. He was known throughout Italy by his work for societies and for his schools. He was utterly opposed to nepotism. His ardor for missionary work drew to him the attention of all who were interested in this field. He exacted observance of discipline although he was indifferent to ceremony and the punctilious observance of mere form and conventionalities.

He was a staunch advocate of the Gregorian chant, which was in keeping with his insistence on liturgical observance. Since his accession to the Chair of St. Peter, Pius X delivered a simple sermon to the people Sunday afternoons. In his first encyclical, given two months after his accession, the pope declared that "we have no other program in the Supreme Pontificate but that of restoring all things in Christ, so that 'Christ may be all in all.'"

Abolished Veto
One vigorous measure of Pius X, shortly after his elevation to the papacy, was to abolish the "veto" which three Catholic powers enjoyed in the election of a pope. He drew up a document in which excommunication is pronounced ipso facto against any one who acts as the intermediary of any power in proposing a veto against any cardinal during a conclave. Despite his unflinching attitude toward all that involves the authority, teaching and dignity of the church, Pius X was personally friendly toward Queen Margherita, with whom he became acquainted when bishop of Mantua, and toward King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena, whom he received at the patriarchate in Venice on their visit to that city.

The Venetians were surprised that the pope did not assume the title of Benedict, as one of the seven popes who, like himself, were from the province of Venice, was Benedict XI. This pontiff was born at Treviso, with which town Cardinal Sarto had been connected by his labors as a priest. Benedict also, like himself, was of humble origin and of lowly spirit.

Pius X was a handsome man of fine physique, with blue eyes, and silvery hair, and possessed a sonorous voice of great volume, something of special value to one who is distinguished by zeal for preaching. The arms of the pope are an anchor resting on the waters, and a radiant star. This and the fact that he was elected on the day of Saint Dominic have recalled the title applied to this pope by the prophecy of St. Malachi: "Ignis Ardens" (a blazing fire). The arms of the Dominicans have a dog (Domini Canes) bearing a blazing torch.

Pope Pius at one time declared that he would willingly give up two years of his life if he might be able to visit only once more his beloved Venice. One of the pronounced characteristics of the private life of the pope was his homesickness, which time and time again was displayed in connection with his pontifical duties.

When Cardinal Sarto was elected

NAMES M'REYNOLDS TO SUPREME BENCH

Wilson Choice Expected to Meet Opposition in the Senate

ASSISTANT TO SUCCEED HIM

Thomas W. Gregory of Texas Chosen to Be Attorney General

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—President Wilson today nominated Attorney General James C. McReynolds to the United States supreme court to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Justice Lurton, and at the same time named Thomas W. Gregory of Austin, Texas, assistant, to be attorney general, to succeed McReynolds at the head of the department of justice.

Strong but probably futile opposition loomed up today in the senate to the nomination. Several senators let it be known that they would vigorously oppose McReynolds. Little trouble, however, was anticipated by the democratic leaders in insuring his confirmation.

That McReynolds was to be chosen has been known for several months. The New Haven railroad dissolution was the only "hitch." He desired to clean that matter up before retiring from the department of justice. With the amicable court settlement assured, McReynolds now feels free to accept the promotion to the high court.

Thomas W. Gregory of Austin, Texas, the special assistant of the attorney general, who is slated to succeed McReynolds, is now in charge of the New Haven case. Gregory is 53 years of age, a native of Mississippi, and has been prominently identified with Texas bar activities. He is said to have the backing of Colonel E. M. House of Texas, reputed "political mentor" of the president.

GRAEFF FUNERAL THURSDAY

The funeral of Mrs. Fred Graeff will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home, 1523 Mississippi street, and at 2:30 from the German Reformed church. The Rev. E. Vornholt will officiate.

pope in 1903, he adopted the same attitude as had his two immediate predecessors, toward the present Italian government which in 1870 annexed the papal states to the United Italy and took the city of Rome away from the popes, and made it the capital of the Italian kingdom. This attitude was for the popes to declare themselves prisoners in the vatican at the hands of the Italian government which they described as "the despoilers of the papacy," and never during their entire pontificate leave either the vatican or the vatican gardens.

In spite of his self-enforced imprisonment, Pope Pius gave frequent expressions during the first few years of his pontificate that he would yet be able to visit Venice, which he had never wanted to leave. As the years went by, however, Pope Pius was forced to realize that this could never be without renouncing all claims of the church to the papal states, the city of Rome, and the temporal power, and he finally came to keep his homesickness to himself. In the summer of 1911, however, when the pope became seriously ill, all of the yearning came back to him and in sympathy with his former reserve he broke down and expressed his desire again to see Venice.

When one of his old Venetian friends came to visit him and described the completion of the new Campanile or bell tower of the famous cathedral of St. Mark at Venice, the pope said:

Eager to See Campanile
"During the last few years of my life it has come to be one of the last great worldly pleasures which I desire to have that I might go back to Venice even for one fleeting glance to see whether they have been able to build the new campanile as beautiful as it was before."
"To do this, willingly I would give at least two years of my life."

PERSISTENT REPORT LIEGE FORTS TAKEN OFFICIALLY DENIED

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Despite denials from official sources, the reports that the Liege forts have at last fallen are persistent. Circumstantial accounts of their being badly battered by the German siege artillery and at last blown up by the defenders, are reaching here from several points on the continent. This was known to have been the plan, as the officers in command had been instructed that the forts were not to be allowed to fall into German hands, and that when the time came for them to be abandoned they were to be demolished by high explosives already in place. There is no official confirmation, however, of the report that this has taken place. The last word received here regarding the forts from Brussels quoted the Belgian general staff as saying: "At last accounts the Liege forts were still holding out. Communication is interrupted."

REPORTED ZEPPELINS HAVE DESTROYED 19 BRITISH WARSHIPS

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—In response to many inquiries, which it says have been made as to what the Zeppelin dirigibles are doing in the European war, the Staats Zeitung prints the following: "We have very favorable news from private letters concerning the Zeppelin airships. The following information received in a private letter speaks for itself: "Every night the Zeppelin airships go out to the North sea and when they return there is an English battleship destroyed. Nineteen English battleships have been destroyed so far."

A Little Thing That Counts

Whether or not you derive benefit from your eyeglasses may depend upon so seemingly unimportant a detail as the drilling of a hole in a lens. Like every other operation in our prescription workshop, this detail is watched carefully. We have a complicated little machine which automatically drills the hole in exactly the right relation to the axis in the lens. When we fit the lenses into a mounting for you, they are in optically correct position. Let us serve you.

PASSENGERS DON LIFE PRESERVERS ON MORNING STAR

La Crosse Men on River Boat Caught in Pepin Storm Praise Captain Blair

Percy L. Cilley of the La Crosse National bank; Henry J. Beckwith, member of the board of public works and Fred B. Cratt, 503 Vine street, passengers on the steamer Morning Star from La Crosse to St. Paul had a narrow escape from shipwreck when the vessel nearly foundered in Lake Pepin early yesterday. The Morning Star docked in St. Paul minus its landing stage and beaten severely by the water, after weathering one of the worst storms experienced on Lake Pepin in recent years. The storm was the same as raised havoc in La Crosse and vicinity early Tuesday morning.

It swept upon the Morning Star, while its 125 passengers were asleep. The wind swooped down upon the lake with terrific violence and as the big vessel began to pitch and wallow the frightened passengers rushed from their staterooms where the water was beating in through their windows. Brilliant flashes of lightning vividly illuminated the sky.

Life Preservers Donned
Captain Blair, realizing the seriousness of the storm, ordered the passengers to find life preservers. Nearly on all board came on deck fearing the vessel would go down. For more than an hour the boat, buffeted by the waves, rolled and pitched until the storm subsided.

Resolutions were drawn up by the passengers at St. Paul commending Captain Blair, Pilots C. Blusson and J. J. Richtman and Chief Engineer F. E. Goldsmith for the skillful manner in which they handled the boat. Mrs. O. A. Champlin, Clinton, Iowa, with a liberal contribution started a subscription to raise a purse with which to buy a suitable gift of appreciation for the captain.

OUIMET QUALIFIES IN NATIONAL EVENT

Title Holder Makes Good Scores in the Qualifying Rounds Yesterday; Other Amateurs Do Well

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Three amateurs, including Francis Ouimet, the titleholder, were among the thirty-two men who qualified on Tuesday for the national open golf championship at Midlothian Country club.

Ouimet, playing steadily, but not brilliantly, took 148 strokes for the thirty-six holes, two higher than the medal score of the day, made by James Barnes of Whitmarsh club, Philadelphia.

Warren K. Wood of Homewood club, Chicago, formerly western amateur champion, and W. Rautenbach, amateur champion of Chicago, were the other two amateurs to qualify, outstripping many professionals with 155 each.

The main attraction for the public was the playing of Francis Ouimet, who appeared in the west for the first time since he sprang into fame by taking the national championship last year in Brookline in a spectacular playoff with Edward Ray and Harry Vardon, English professionals. A large gallery followed the champion throughout the thirty-six holes. Playing with M. J. Brady of Wollaston, Ouimet's game did not vary perceptibly during the entire day. He took 74 each round, driving straight and far. His approach work was indifferent at times and his putting was never spectacular. He outplayed his professional companion most of the time, however, actually driving first and putting last.

Brady displayed some brilliant strokes, notably in recoveries from bunkers. He was only two strokes behind Ouimet at the finish.

WHEAT CARGO TAKEN

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The Austrian steamer Dinorah, wheat laden, is reported captured off the island of Guernsey by a French destroyer. The Express says German vessels captured to date by the allies total 200, with a tonnage of 1,000,000 and a value, with cargoes of $300,000,000.

BELGIAN COURT MOVES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The Belgian royal family, cabinet and foreign minister have left Brussels for Antwerp, the state department was advised today. The queen has transferred the palace in Brussels into a hospital.

The Making of a Man.

No university can make a man. ... Men may load themselves with lore till they stoop beneath the weight of their accumulations, and yet fail to lift a care from the heart of the weary, or impel a single soul an inch on its way to God. The real building of a man is within.—Dr. Clifford.

Scholarship.

The scholar is more inclined to inquire than to affirm. He is more ready to say, "What do you think?" than to say, "I know."—C. F. Thwing.

MRS. FRED GRAEFF CROSSES DIVIDE

Mrs. Fred Graeff, 57 years of age, died at her home, 1523 Mississippi street, at 4 o'clock yesterday from a complication of diseases after an illness of six months, during which time she had been confined to her home.

Born in Hanover, Germany, March 4, 1857, Mrs. Graeff came to America at the age of 15. She settled with her parents in La Crosse, and has been a resident ever since.

Surviving her husband and two daughters, Mrs. L. H. SHIL, 1523 Mississippi street, and Mrs. Herman Keppel, Campbell.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. from the home and at 2:30 from the German Reformed church. Rev. E. Vornholt will officiate. Burial will take place at Oak Grove cemetery.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Thickness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—One hundred and forty Americans were sent from Hamburg to Rotterdam by special train. Consul Morgan informed the state department today. The dispatch was undated, and for this reason the state department did not know when the train left.

Harder Task to Do Present Duty. Pleasant it is to entertain the picture of ourselves in some future scene, planning wisely, feeling nobly, and executing with the holy triumph of the will; but it is a different thing, not in the green avenues of the future, but in the hot dust of the present moment, to do the duty that waits and wants us.—James Martineau.

Playground Notes

The Imperials by defeating the Hoosiers Monday night and the Krobs Tuesday night have undisputed claim to the pennant in the South side senior playground ball league. This is the third consecutive year that the Imperials have won the flag. Pappenfus, manager of the team, deserves a great deal of credit for the remarkable showing made, having guided the team for three years. The champions have been presented with bronze watch fobs commemorating their victory.

The junior championship was decided Monday evening when the Dodgers of Hood street played the Fairies of West avenue at the latter grounds. The Fairies took the game by the score of 6 to 1. Both teams were tied for honors until this game. Denney, who pitched for the Fairies and who also captained the team was the main factor in the defeat of the team from the rival ground.

The Midget honors were taken by the Hood street Eagles. This team is composed of some fast players who play consistent ball. F. Hefti and R. Rippe, battery for the Eagles, did excellent work throughout the season.

Mystical Number on Coin. No one seems unwilling to accept a 25-cent piece, even though there are on each coin the following hoodoo combinations: Thirteen letters in the scroll held in the eagle's beak; thirteen feathers in each wing; thirteen tail feathers; thirteen upright bars in the shield; thirteen arrowheads; thirteen leaves on the branch; thirteen letters in the words "quarter dollar."

201 LOST IN FIGHT

PARIS, Aug. 19.—In the official story of the sinking of the Austrian cruiser Zenta off Antivari in a fight with the French fleet last Sunday, made public here today, it is stated that 201 of her officers and crew were drowned or killed in action. The Zenta was built in Trieste, in 1897.

Inhabitability of Mars. The question of the habitability of Mars is one on which astronomers differ greatly. The sole evidence in favor of the existence of intelligent beings on it is the obviously artificial nature of the so-called canals as some astronomers see them. There cannot be said to be evidence of additional canal construction on the planet, the whole question of the existence of any canal being still a matter of controversy.

TALKED TOO MUCH ROETHE 'PINCHED' BY RUSTIC COP

Gubernatorial Aspirant Couldn't Fool Policeman at Antigo; Friends Take a Hand

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—Henry E. Roethe's experience at Sturgeon Bay in being taken by a waitress for a farmer and segregated in the hotel dining room was matched by an incident in which he was the victim at Antigo a few days ago. While talking to a crowd on the street from a wagon, the chief of police came along, yanked him off, and was escorting him to the "lock-up" when the crowd and some influential citizens interfered and established his identity as a republican candidate for governor.
The chief apologized and allowed him to continue his speech. In a letter here, Mr. Roethe explained that he had secured permission beforehand from the mayor and city commission to talk on the street, but the chief did not know it and proceeded to "run him in." Mr. Roethe declared the experience made votes for him in Antigo.

FRENCH CAPTURE STEAMER

MARSEILLES, France, Aug. 19.—The Austrian steamship Emilia with a cargo of sugar and coffee, has been captured by a French gunboat off the Moroccan coast.

Expected a Real Boat Ride.

A contest, for the enlargement of the Sunday school, entitled "A Trip to Palestine," had been planned by the superintendent. One mother, whose son George was a member of the school, hearing that the superintendent intended taking the scholars for a boat ride, hastened to remark, "They can go what wants to, but I don't know whether I'll let George go or not."—National Monthly.

GERMAN FLEET TO ATTEMPT SORTIE?

Believed by British that Submarines and Destroyers May Attack Blockaders

LONDON, Aug. 19.—While the official war bureau announces there has been desultory fighting between the British and German warships in the, it insists that "no losses are reported or claimed." It is stated that the fighting was confined to an exchange of shots at long range, between scout ships and destroyer divisions.

The bureau says: "A certain liveliness is apparent in the southern area of the North sea." This is interpreted to mean that there are indications of a possible German dash, with submarines and destroyers, against the British blockading fleet. Such action has been expected, as the Germans' hope of success on the seas is based on the belief that they will be able to pick off individually some of the British war fleet, while their own heavy ships remain under the protection of the land guns.

AVIATOR DROPS BOMBS

PARIS, Aug. 19.—The war office announces that a German monoplane, flying a French flag, passed over Luneville, in the department of Meurthe et Moselle today and dropped three bombs. They fell in the public gardens but did no particular damage, and no one was hurt. This is the fourth time German aviators have dropped bombs in Luneville.

Therein Is the Difference.

A highbrow can retire to his study and emerge with the announcement that he has discovered a subconscious cosmos, and we call it new thought. But a lowbrow can spend five years exploring an unknown continent and claim to have discovered a new animal called the snigglebluk and we are unanimous that it is old bunk.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

MAN INJURED IN FALL FROM TRAIN

Takes Nap on Top of Moving Coach and Rolls Off Into the Tunnel

SPARTA, Wis., Aug. 19.—A man giving his name as W. J. Moccock, was brought into Sparta yesterday morning by the "pusher." He was picked up by the pusher crew in the tunnel where he had fallen from passenger train number 58. He was riding on top of one of the coaches and fell asleep, rolling off when the tunnel was reached. He was practically without money, having given all he had to his wife and three children who have started to Lynn, about ten miles from Boston, Mass., where they expected to join Mr. Moccock. After an examination which showed that one hip was badly hurt, Mr. Moccock was taken to the county farm.

Had Tuberculosis, Now Insured

When you know a man has been afflicted with Consumption, and later obtained insurance, it means that he has recovered his health, as in this case:—
237 Dean St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
"Gentlemen:—I was troubled with night sweats, a severe cough and was very weak; having, in fact, absolutely no ambition whatever. I consulted a physician, who told me my lungs were affected. Not satisfied, I went to another doctor, who said that I was in the first stages of Consumption. At this point I started to take Eckman's Alternative. The night sweats stopped almost immediately, my cough became looser and gradually disappeared. My weight is now 142 pounds and my physician has pronounced me perfectly sound, which, together with the fact that I have just been accepted by two different insurance companies for insurance, makes me sure of my entire recovery." (Abbreviated.) (Affidavit) W. E. GEE.
Eckman's Alternative is most efficacious in bronchial catarrh and severe throat and lung affections and upbuilding the system. Contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs. Accept no substitutes. Small size $1; regular size $2. Sold by Geo. E. Mariner, Chas. E. Beyschlag, and leading druggists. Write Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet of recoveries.

"SHEPHERD OF THE HILLS"

Occasionally some play strikes a note that rings out clear and true in the midst of the commonplace and impresses its auditor with the thought that it was written not for gain, not for pastime, but because some man had something to say to other men and he took this means of expression.

"The Shepherd of the Hills," Harold Bell Wright's dramatization of his novel of the same name, is this kind of a play. Mr. Wright had felt within his soul the peace and beauty of the hills and he wished to set down their meaning before him. He made a play that in plot is compelling, one that never fails in sincerity. The people who move in it are so human that the auditor will pick them out for like and dislike as if he really knows them.

The scene of the play is in the high hills of the Ozark mountains. The mists of the valleys, the glories of the sunsets, the magnificent vistas from the summits have been brought out by the wonderful ingenuity of the scenic artist and electrician's craft.

GALESVILLE FAIR

STARTS TUESDAY

WANTS BIG CROWD

La Crosse will send a great delegation to the Galesville fair next week if the lure of the attractive personal letters being sent out by Secretary Ben Davis of the Wisconsin-Minnesota Fair and Race circuit hits everyone alike.

Here is Mr. Davis' letter:

"Galesville, Aug. 18.
"Dear Sir:
"You and four hundred and ninety-nine other La Crosse people are expected at the Galesville fair next week. Note dates August 25, 26, and 27. Wednesday and Thursday are the days we shall be looking for you."

"You will see to it that forty-seven of the other fellows come. The other four hundred and fifty-three are assigned to various other individuals of prominence."

"Your present job depends largely on your obedience of this order."

"Yours truly,
"BEN W. DAVIS,
"Secretary."

CAPTURE GERMAN AEROPLANE

PARIS, Aug. 19.—French troops forced a German aeroplane to descend near Dinant. The aviator was killed, but his passenger, a German major, who was making observations on the French position, was taken prisoner.

Would Be Dangerous.

Almost any man would be sent to the penitentiary or an insane asylum if he admitted as much to his discredit, that wasn't true, as he will admit falsely to his credit.

BEAGHEY SHAKES DICE WITH DEATH

RACES RUN ON TIME

There will be no long waits between races at the 1914 state fair. Supt. of Speed R. J. White, an experienced horseman and race man, will see that at every heat is put on exactly on the minute.

"There will be no tiresome delays this year," he says. "People will see racing all of the time while each day's racing program is on."

Beachey is famed as the most skillful of all aviators and does the most remarkable things with an aeroplane, but his scientific and skillful feats pale into insignificance when compared with the stunts he accomplished through just sheer nerve and daring. The loop and the upside down flying feats are easy for Beachey when everything goes right. But let the motor hesitate just a fraction of a second as the aeroplane is at the apex of the loop and a "tail slide" of a few feet will mean the death of the flier. Beachey is no fool. He knows far better than anyone else just what chance he is taking. But it's all a delightful game for him—this sport of risking his neck on the map, neto, carburetor, wiring and dozens of other factors in the construction of an aeroplane.

"A great scientist once told me that I had the bird instinct in my being. As a boy I was a great lover of birds. Their song did not appeal to me as much as their superb dives and dives and other feats of flying. I often wanted to emulate them. Now I can do things the birds cannot do. I can loop the loop and fly upside down. Birds can not."

RUSS FORD HURT MAY QUIT GAME

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Russell Ford, famous spitball artist and leading pitcher of the Federal league, may be permanently lost to baseball, owing to an injury to his spine. Bonesetter Reese has been unable to help Ford and an operation may be undertaken later.

The injury to Ford's spine was caused by diving into shallow water at Long Beach, Cal., in 1912. Recent pitching by Ford has irritated the old injury to such an extent that he has been unable to work through an entire game.

Our Marvelous Intelligence.

The wonderful intelligence of the human being is such that, after thousands of years of assembling together on occasion, they are still unable to gather in large concourses without trampling or colliding with each other fatally.
